Sixty Years Ago.

How wondrous are the changes, Jim,
Since sixty years ago,
When gals wore woolen dresses, Jim,
And boys wore pants of tow;
When shoes were made of calf-skin,
And socks of homespun wool,
And children did a half day's work
Before the hour of school.

The girls took music lessons, Jim,
Upon the spinning wheel,
And practiced late and early, Jim,
On spindle, swift and reel;
The boys would ride bareback to mill,
A dozen miles or so,
And hurry off before 'twas day,
Some sixty years ago.

The people rode to meeting, Jim,
In sleds, instead of sleighs,
And wagons rode as easy, Jim,
As buggies now a days
And oxens answered well for teams,
Though now they'd be too slow,
For people lived not half so fast,
Some sixty years ago.

O, well do I remember, Jim,
That Wilson's patent stove,
That father bought and paid for, Jim,
In cloth our gals had wove.
And how the neighbors wondered, Jim,
When we got the thing to go!
They said 'twould burst and kill us, all,
Some sixty years ago.

Yes, everything is different Jim,
From what it used to was,
For men are always tampering, Tom,
With God's great natural laws:
But what on earth we're coming to—
Does anybody know?
For everything has changed so much
Since sixty years ago.

HIGH LIVING.

Dinner for Two That Cost $700 a Plate.

From the Washington Star.

"History of the cuisine fairly teems with descriptions of costly meals," remarked Louis Davies, of Brooklyn, at Li Normandie last night. "We read how that profligate Heliogabalus, the roman emperor, had a single dish on his table that cost $200,000 and how another Roman, Aelin Verus, gave a supper to a dozen cronies that cost a quarter of a million dollars. Then Vitellius, still another Roman and an emperor, likewise intertained his brother at a little snack that used up a couple of hundred thousand; but these were ancient fellows, who had nightinga les, tongues and humming birds' brains and similar marvelous dainties.

"Coming down to modern days and plain, ordinary, every-day ham and eggs, I ate a supper once in this very town, that cost a friend of mine $1,400. A gentleman named Parker kept an establishment where your Press Club is, and devoted it to entertaining gentleman at suddry games of chance. One night the friend I speak of and myself were killing an evening here together, when we conceived the brilliant idea that a visit to Parker's would be just the thing. We put it into execution at once. I have never gambled in my life, and my friend has not done it since. We went upstairs and entered the room just as supper was announced

"My friend did not want to eat anything, but I was hungry, and when some plausible rascal of a dealer told me that there was broiled Smithfield ham, flanked with pullets' eggs as a sort of side issue to the otherwise gorgeous feast, I broke for the supper room despite my companion,s pleadings. Of course, he followed me, when he found his protestations were useless, and we enjoyed the feed immensely. When we came out my friend pulled out a 20-dollar bill and said he would play a turn or two to pay for our supper. I begged him in turn not to do it, but he was as obdurate as I had been. But why linger on the misery. He lost his 20-dollar bill and tried to get it back. In two hours $1,400 were gone glimmering. I have never felt so downright hungry since that a slight request from a mere acquaintance cannot keep me away from a dead-head feed."

"Salvation is character. A man is saved when he is good and lost when he is wicked," says The Outlook.

If every man, woman and child in this locality would make a resolve that not a dollar of their money should be spent outside of the community henceforth and era of prosperity would immediately set in.

Maxims to Remember.

Every town's success depends upon the success of its people.

Extravagance in school expenditures is a commendable virtue.

Driven to the wall by wealth, the poor often accept vice as an alternative

Labor should be dignified, intelligent and, above all, well fed.

Cultivate a patriotic spirit in the young. Let the stars and stripes and, if need be, the notes of the tin horn float on every breeze.

The enterprise of a town may be accurately gauged by the appearance of its streets, its public buildings and its parks.

Whatever advantages a village or city may possess, the citizens should co-operate with the existing forces stimulate what otherwise must prove a slower, even though inevitable, growth.

Cast about wherever you will and discover that within a comparatively limited area there is an incalculable wealth of earth's treasures, the transactions in which even for a day are beyond measure.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervousness and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by the motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using, sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

A Laugh on the Girls.

A good joke was played on the girls of Marion by the young men of that town. The boys had been rather remiss in their attentions to the young ladies and had been "stagging" it to the theater, parties, etc., until the girls got tired of being left in the cold and decided to show their independence. Consequently 15 of the girls hired a box at the theater and made a very charming theater party. The play was. "Wanted, a Husband," and the girls sat serene through it all, never dreaming that the wicked boys had taken one of the larges. flaring posters, "Wanted a Husband," and fastened it around the box so that all the audience might read.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 8, 1894.

The heated campaigns cause a good deal of money to be circulated.

The democrats of Hall county have endorsed congressman Tate.

Trains in Indiana are burning corn for fuel, owing to the lack of coal.

A card from Judge Gober says he had nothing to do with the Fannin county mass meeting.

Quite a number of the counties that have already acted have endorsed President Cleveland.

Mr. Atkinson runs well to have so many charges prefered against him by his democratic brethren.

The Air-Line has closed a contract for the building of a new depot in Atlanta to cost $200,000.

There is now a good chance for Mr. Winn or Mr. Twitty to go from this district to congress next time.

The house election committee have decided Watson's contest in favor of Mr. Black. This surprises no one.

The campaign promises to be a heated one but we hope every body will keep in a good humor and not tear their shirt.

An effort was made at the recent mass meeting in Fannin county to endorse Congressman Tate, but was voted down.

A great deal of the corn in Union county was killed by the recent cold wave, and the farmers are engaged now in re-planting their crops.

Ex-congressmen Kitchens, of North Carolina, has left the democratic party and joined the people's. Thousands are doing the same thing every day.

Mr. Hines is making addresses nearly every day, and is fast gaining strength for Governor and will make it warm for whoever is nominated on the democratic ticket.

The general state election in Oregon Monday gave the republicans a sweeping victory. There were three tickets in the field, people's party, democrat and republican.

It is not known which of the two old parties will nominate Grover Cleveland. He has been such a warm friend to both that we don't know which should have the strongest claim on him.

The city council of Atlanta has offered a reward of $1,200 for the miscreant who threw a dynamite on Walker street in that city Thursday night of last week. The Governor adds $200 more to this.

The democrats are falling out with each other. The convention in Fannin county last week ended in a row and the sheriff had to be called in the court house to keep them from fighting. "A house divided against itself can't stand" long.

What is the matter with the business men of the country? They were satisfied that a democratic administration would bring them prosperity, but it has brought just the opposite. brought ruin and desolation to many men and it does seem that it is time for them to think.

The committee in Congress last week did not make a very favorable report on Atlanta's exposition, and some of them were southern democratic members too. Why did the Atlanta Journal not jump on them like it did the people's party convention which had nothing to do with it?

It was Allen D. Candler who said in a speech at Jonesboro during the last campaign that if the democrats were given power and they demonetized silver he would be a third partyite or any other kind of an ite to turn them out. What does Mr. Candler say now?—Living Issues

General Kelly is still "sailing" toward Washington with his industrial army. He don't propose to be arrested for getting on the grass, however, but will speak to the people from a balloon. Possibly the policeman will shoot holes through the balloon, though, and make him "light" on the grass, so they can get a chance to arrest Kelley.—Kansas Agitator.

The democrats will have to leave off the word "mass meeting" if the rest of the counties do not turn out better than those that have already acted. Notwithstanding the big interest that is being taken in the Gubernatorial race, some of the strong counties did not poll 70 votes, while Fulton county only numbered a little more than two thousand.

Courtney Resigns?

It was reported here last week that Mr. W. H. Courtney, who has been acting for some time as chairman of the Democratic Executive committee of White county, called the brethren together and threw up his commission. The last time we talked with Mr. Courtney he said the people's party was considerable in the majority in that county and he has doubtless discovered that he was superintending an up hill business.

WHAT WILL THEY DO.

There is much expressed dissatisfaction now in the democratic ranks. The good, easy democrats, who voted for Cleveland confidently, innocently believing he would represent their interests, now see that they were mistaken. The important question now is, what are they going to do about it? There is a disposition on the part of some to saddle the whole responsibility on the President and go on fighting in the ranks of the democratic party. Others are contemplating voting the republican ticket. The wisdom of either course may well be questioned. The records show that on all votes on the silver question, when votes would count for something, the majority of the democratic party voted with the majority of the republicans in support of the measures recommended by Cleveland.

When the fifty-third congress was elected no one doubted but that a good majority of its members were in favor of free silver, and were opposed to the repeal of the Sherman law unless a free silver bill was substituted therefor. Everybody knows that when the vote for repeal was taken a majority of democratic congressmen voted for it. The records also show that a majority voted against free coinage and one against the revival of the old Bland bill. Of course the Sherman bill was deficient, but it was better than nothing, and should have been held until something better took its place. In this respect Cleveland is more honest than his party. Everybody that knew anything about his principles knew he was opposed to silver. He had so stated in two of his messages during his former administration. His letters and speeches showed him to be hostile to silver and in sympathy with Wall Street. Cleveland has simply carried out the policy he has advocated all along. Not so with his party. It professed to be in favor of silver both by its platform and the speeches of its representatives, yet when the time came it voted against it at least a majority did. To throw Cleveland overboard will not make matters any better. The men who control the policy of the Democratic party are hand in hand with Wall Street. They are in the majority. The minority cannot throw the majority overboard. Experience has demonstrated that they are making a hopeless fight within party lines. Then why continue to follow the leader of Wall street? Just as well follow Cleveland as any other bell-weather of Wall street.

And what is to be gained by going over to the republican party? It is even more pronounced against silver than the democratic party. It would be jumping out of the democratic frying pan into the republican fire. There is only one free silver party. Its members are a unit on the question and the votes of its representatives have always been on the right side. The People's party is young, vigorous and growing. It is a party of ideas and of progress. It may possible advocate some things that are not practical just at this time. But it does not trim its platforms to suit the political whims or policies of professional politicians. It is honest in its convictions, and perserving in its efforts. It does not construct platforms to catch votes. It has the courage of its convictions. It presents the only sensible refuge for the free silverites. If they are honest in their professions let them join its ranks. Its doors are wide open and we will welcome all honest men who believe in a government of, for, by the people.

The strikers throughout the country still exist, and fights occur frequently between the laborers and the officers.

Keep the blood pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you decide to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be persuaded to take any other.

SOME OF OUR NOMINEES.

HON. J. A. B. MAHAFFEY.

J. A. B Mahaffey, of Jefferson, Jackson county, Georgia, was born at Dahlonega, Lumpkin county, Georgia, April 9, 1843. When eight years of age, his father moved to Jackson county. At the age of nineteen he entered the Confederate army, as private, in Company E, Cobb's Legion Cavalry, and served to the close of the war. He received an academic education in Martin Institute, at Jefferson. He graduated at Emory College, Oxford, Georgia, in the class of 1871. He taught school and read law in 1872 3; was admitted to the bar in 1874; was elected president of the board of education of Jackson county in 1878 and has continuously served to the present, was appointed judge of the county court of Jackson county in 1887 and resigned in 1888.

CAPT. JAMES BARRETT.

James Barrett, the youngest son of Mr. Thomas Barrett and grandson of General Thomas Glascock, was born in Augusta, Georgia, in 1842; received a common school education up to his thirteenth year, when he attended the classical school of Thomas Holleyman and remained under his tuition until he went to the Universality of North Carolina. He had just finished his course in the Freshman class, when the storm of war covered this land; he enlisted as a private in Bartow's Regiment, and was at the destruction of the United States Arsenal at Harper's Ferry and in the campaign which ended at the battle of the first Manassas, then his health failed and he returned to the University and went through the Sophomore class. When his health was restored he joined the Western army, just before Bragg's invasion of Kentucky; he rose to the rank of captain, and remained in the army until the surrender of the various armies of the Confederacy. He was wounded in the battle of Chickamauga, which disabled him for two months. At the close of the war he went to Europe to complete his education by travel and observation. While there he met and married his wife, Miss Sotegast, at Frankford on the Main. After remaining several years abroad he returned to his home and State. He purchased a plantation in Burke county and carried out his childhood's intention in pursuing the noblest occupation known to man—that of cultivating the soil. After living in Burke for three years he was called to South Carolina to take charge of a manufacturing concern, which proved a failure on account of the demonetization of silver, the gradual contraction of prices and continual shrinkage of values. He returned to his native city and State, where he now resides, occupied in conducting his plantation in Burke county. In 1884 he offered for the Legislature, and although elected in the primary by one hundred and three votes over his opponent he was cheated out of his election by the peculiar methods and schemes of the executive committee. In 1886 he stood again for election to the Legislature and was again defeated through bribery and corruption. Soon after the Alliance was organized he joined that order and has ever since been a prominent member, being at present the chairman of the finance committee. When the People's party was born he was one of the first to join it, believing to find in it pure Bourbon Democracy and reform from rotten methods of ring politicians and city cliques. Two years ago he accepted the nomination of the People's party as commissioner of agriculture, but was defeated with the rest of the ticket.

The Democrats Meet.

A majority of the democratic Ex. Com. of Lumpkin county held a meeting in the Ordinary's office last Saturday, with closed doors, and as far as we know with turned keys. It reminded us very much of what the Irishman said about it being useless to fence a cemetery. Those that were in couldn't get out, and those that were out didn't want to get in. Or it might have been that they were so scarce of members that they were afraid to let one out for fear that they would loose him.

About the only business we learned that was transacted, was fixing the 3rd Saturday in July for the holding of primaries in the county, and prepare to make as big a rush for Cen. Evans as possible.

Evans and Atkinson.

The democratic race for the gubernatorial chair is certainly a warm one, but Mr. Atkinson is gaining all the time, and is now 36 ahead up to Wednesday evening. Our neighbor counties White and Dawson acted last Tuesday. Atkinson carried Dawson and Evans White.

The P. P. Meeting.

The people's party meeting held at Dahlonega last Saturday was well attended and very harmonious. Nearly every district in the county being represented, and the best of feeling existed.

It has been stated that if the people's party made no nomination for the Senate that Col. John B. Graham would be insisted on by his many friends to allow his name to be used for senatorial honors. The colonel is a democrat but is a very conservative man.

But as will be seen from the Tuesday's proceedings elsewhere that a full fledged people's party candidate will be to contend with, matters not who nor how many are in the field.

Meeting of the People's Party.

DAHLONEGA, GA., June 5, '94.

Agreeable to notice, about fifty of the people's party met in the court house to-day to transact such business as might come before it. J. B. Ducket occupied the chair and Secretary V. A. Higgins recorded the proceedings.

The meeting was called for the purpose of thorough organization, which was explained in a timely speech by W. H. McAfee.

The question of nominating was brought up and postponed until the first Tuesday in August, 1894.

The following resolutions were adopted, as follows:

RESOLVED, That the people's party of White and Dawson counties be requested to hold a regular meeting and select delegates in any way they may choose to represent the people's party of Lumpkin county in convention on the first Tuesday in August, 1894, at Dahlonega, to nominate a candidate for the 43rd Senatorial District, Lumpkin county recognizing the right for the Senator under the rotation system and wishes a unite in the selection of a candidate.

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this meeting that in view of the great questions involved in the political field, that we, as a people's party, recognizing the rights of the peopleas sovereigns, feel it our political duty to present the cause of human rights, and urge upon all the people in sympathy with true Jeffersonian democracy to rally to our cause against the influence in the dominant parties through the influence of the money power of Wall Street and hope that success may attend all efforts looking to elevate human rights, and thus we cordially endorse the nomice for Governor, Judge Hines by the people's party and all the state house officers, and pledge our support to them.

A. J. Barges was appointed in the place of Joseph Christopher, of Shoal Creek district, who resigned on account of his inability to attend regularly.

After several little speeches by J. B. Brown, C. M. Fargerson, W. W. H. McAfee and V. A. Higgins, and a request that the proceedings of the meeting be published in the SIGNAL, adjourned to meet at the stated time.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any ease that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

I Believe in Hood's Inherited Scrofula Cured

Read the Statement of a Popular Teacher

Mr. Geo. A. Zirkle

Mt. Horeb, Tenn.

The statements in the testimonial below are familiar facts to the immediate friends of Mr. Geo. A. Zirkle, school teacher, of Mt. Horeb, Tenn., very well known throughout the country where he was born and has always lived. Read it.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"DEAR SIRS:—I believe in Hood's Sarsaparilla. I will tell you why. I have suffered from hereditt scrofula from child hood. When 37 years of age, my eyes became strangely affected. I could not rest of the sunset, and when I would close my eyes, I could not open them; but on whichever side I lay, on that side I could open my eye. This condition continued about two years, and was succeeded by all over my body and limbs. I had to have my little boys take stone brushes and scrub me. It was dreadful. It continued a month and was followed immediately by a tumor in the right side of my neck, as large as a small egg. I at once commenced taking physicians' prescriptions and continued till I lost hope. In the mean time the tumor changed its place to the immediate front of my neck, suppurated and was followed by others, till six had formed and broken.

"Finally, three years ago, another large tumor seated itself on the point of my right collar bone and in six months another half way back on the bone. Both of them soon began to discharge and continued to do so till about seven months ago. I tried everything, including prescriptions. I was often so weak that and my mind was so confused that I could scarcely attend to my business (school teaching). I was utterly discouraged. And now my story draws to a close. I began the use of

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Sarsaparilla a little less than a year ago, and took five bottles. When I began I had no faith in it. In less than three months both the sores on my shoulder were healed; I was cured in my household affairs, and my strength has steadily grown less apparent. I weigh more than I ever did in my life, and am in the Best of Health, considering my constitution. Do you wonder that I believe in Hood's Sarsaparilla? I can do no less than recommend it to everybody and every way." GEO. A. ZIRKLE, Mt. Horeb, Tenn.

CRITICISING A YOUNG LADY.

"She would be a pretty girl but for one thing."

"What's that?" asked Charley.

George—"Her face is always covered with purple and red blotches."

Charley—"Oh, that's easily enough disposed of. Used to be the same way myself, but I caught on to the trouble one day, and got rid of it in no time."

George—"What was it?"

Charley—"Simple blood eruptions. Took a short course of P. P. P. I tell you, its the best blood corrector. The governor had rheumatism so bad that you could hear him hollow clear across the country every time he moved. He tried it, and you know what an athletic old gent he is now. If somebody would give Miss Daisy a pointer, she would thank them afterwards. All the drug stores sell it."

Dr. Weld's hostlier who had been here only a short time went down to the baptizing last Sunday drunk, making himself very conspicuous, and when the Marshal went to see about it the other morning he had left out for Gainesville and knocked the dust of Dahlonega from his feet.

Funeral Service.

ED. SIGNAL:—

Please allow me space in your paper for a small report of the meeting which was held at Peck's Chapel on the 4th Sunday of the past month, being the 27th ult., by myself, and Dr. N. F. Howard of your town. At 11 o'clock, a. m. a large concourse of people had met for the purpose of funeralizing Sister Nancy Garmon, whose maiden name was Nancy Wheeler. She was born in South Carolina May 23, 1806, and was converted and joined the M. E. Church at the age of 12 years. She was married to John Garmon Nov. 14, 1830, and departed this life Dec. 29th, 1893, aged 86 years, 7 months and 6 days. She was buried at Peck's Chapel, where her membership had been for several years, on New Year's day last.

Sister Garmon was a true wife, a faithful and loving mother and a good neighbor, and best of all, an humble christian.

The funeral was satisfactory to all present. The text was St. John, 11th Chapter and 25th and 26th verses.

The Doctor's sermon was instructive and full of comfort. Many of our hearts were made warm, and many resolved to be christians. May the giver of all good help us to live as we resolved.

My exhortat on was delivered in earnest. I can't say any more for it, but it gave me relief, for I did my duty.

Sister Garmon was one of those who never got out of heart, nor lost her hold on the Lord. She was one of the thousands that had sore trials here and a heavy cross to bear. I had a talk with her the first of December. I praid with her and sung,

"How happy are they,
Who their Saviour obey."

Her face brightened up, her heart leaped for joy and she said, "Brother Austin, I have borne the cross a good long ways, but my strength is gone and it is bearing me." Then I sung for her,

"I am resting, sweetly resting,
In a Saviour's love."

She then said to me, "That is it, that is it. The Lord is bearing it all for me now. I will soon be over the river."

"Now the prisoner is released,
Lightened from her fleshly load,
Where the weary are at rest,
She has gathered into God,
Lo! the pain of life has past,
All her warfare now is o'er,
Death and hell behind are cast,
Grief and suffering are no more.
Yes the christians course is run,
Ended is the glorious strife,
Fought the fight, the work is done,
Death is swallowed up of life."

Praise God for the hope and promise of an immortality in the beyond. Let the readers of this take courage and live the life of the righteous and though here we see through a glass darkly, there we shall see him for ourselves and know as we are known.

J. N. AUSTIN.

MINING NEWS.

The Chestatee, Benham, Gordon and Other Mining News.

BY OUR MINING TRAMP.

I left town early in the morning last week and started to the Chestatee Mine, which is situated on the Chestatee river, some three miles from town. This is a placer mine and is being worked by hydraulic pressure, and they have a splendid plant, the best in the South. The mine is lighted up by electric lights at night, and looking over it at night it looks very much like noon light. There is no doubt but what this Company has a good placer mine, and from the pannings I saw, should say they were making money. They have gone to work right, have not spared money to get up a first class plant and the gold is there and they are bound to get it. Success to them, I say.

The next day I went over to the Benham mine, about four miles from Dahlonega on the Elijay road. On this property is a ten stamp steam mill. The veins are small but the ore is good. This mine seems to be on none of the belts running through this section, but is a distinct belt itself. They have a good mill and so far have got plenty of ore.

I next take in the Gordon mine, a ten stamp mill, and find things lively there. Some taking out ore and hauling it to the mill, while others were washing the surface, getting what free gold there is in the dirt and saving up the float ore to put through the mill. All seem to be busy and the whole thing is well managed and a success.

This will be the last letter you will get from me for sometime as I have been called into White county to look up the mines there and see what I can find in the way of mining higher up in the mountains which would not interest Lumpkin county people. There is plenty of ore in Lumpkin county. All it needs is some one to get it out, which can be done with a good profit. If these small miners could be turned loose on the belt through this section there would be fifty different companies start up and they would all make money, but much of the mining land is owned by parties who will not lease.

In looking over the gold belt of this section I have loaded no one. I have not praised this manager or that one. I have found them all gentlemen that understand their business, and I have been treated well by them all. I have written up the mines I have visited just as I have found them, without fear or favor, having no ax to grind. In my ramble through the country I have found the people very hospitable and as clever as any people can be. I hope before long to be able to return and induce others to come.

GEORGIA CROP REPORT.

Issued by the State Department of Agriculture.

ANSWERS, SUGGESTIONS,

Showing Areas Planted, Condition of Growing Crops and Other Matters of Interest Relating to Agriculture.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
ATLANTA, May 1894.

A report on crop conditions and acreage compiled by the first of May is in many respects incomplete, yet contains sufficient information to be of benefit in arriving at more accurate data later in the season.

It is the intention of the department, as provided by law under this branch of the report, to secure statistics of our agricultural products for later compilation. With this end in view we request the reporters who have so efficiently served the department, to make their inquiries as extended as possible with the purpose of getting statistics that will be practically correct.

COTTON.

In regard to our staple crop of cotton it is gratifying to note that a small reduction in acreage is reported. While it would have been pleasing to record a marked decrease in acreage, yet the fact that the steps taken in the last few years to make cotton an independent money crop have not been retraced is cause for congratulation. It will be seen from the tabulated statement that the condition and prospect compared to an average of five years for the state is 9 per cent below the average, and that this decrease in prospect is most marked in Southwest Georgia, while Middle Georgia shows a condition nearly equal to the average of the last five years. Throughout the state the crop is from 10 to 15 days late, and where the plant is up many imperfect stands are reported.

CORN.

Several years have marked an increase in the acreage devoted to the corn crop and we trust the future will see no retrogression in this respect, and that the self sustaining farmer may be soon found all over Georgia. The condition of the crop, owing to the cold weather the latter part of March and the first of April, is about 6 per cent below an average of the last several years. Owing to the advanced condition of the crop in Southwestern Georgia the decrease in condition from the cold weather is greater in that than in anyother section of the state.

WHEAT.

As with corn, an increase in the acreage devoted to this cereal is shown. In the corresponding report for last season we were pleased to note an increase in acreage in the same crop and to state that the previous falling off in acreage promises to be recovered. All North Georgia and much of Middle Georgia is well adapted to this cereal and much care should be taken in its cultivation," present prices are not remunerative, but in a rotation of crop looking to the upbuilding and preservation of the land, it can very properly find a place. During the year in the reports of the department we have on several occasions called attention to the best methods of fertilizing and of cultivating this crop, which we hope has received the attention of our farmers.

OATS.

No change in the acreage devoted to this crop for the entire state is shown. Southwest, Middle and East Georgia show a slight gain which is lost in the other sections of the state. For the entire state the condition and prospect may be regarded as poor.

FRUIT.

Our rapidly developing horticultural interest has suffered this spring the greatest disaster of this character perhaps that the state has ever passed through. Certain it is that there has never been such a wholesale destruction of the fruit crop since this interest developed beyond the orchard for home use. While the destruction has been so great and the loss so heavy, yet those engaged in the business are not disheartened, as they recognize the fact that so severe a freeze is indeed a rare occurrence in Georgia.

In some localities a few peaches will be made, and a moderate gathering of apples may be expected.

GRASSES.

The meadow lands throughout the state are in fine condition, and interest in forage crops is developing.

LABOR.

Labor conditions remain about the same, with no scarcity reported.

TABULATED STATEMENT.

The following table gives a comprehensive view of the condition and prospect with the acreage of the most important crops:

GRAFTING WAX.

Please give me a recipe for grafting wax. H. O. T., Cloudale.

Take equal parts of rosin, beeswax and tallow and melt them together. Half the quantity of linseed oil may be used instead of the tallow. When the mixture is cool it should be pulled to give toughness.

LOST CUD.

I have a cow that has "lost her cud," what must I do for her. H. O. N., Bluffton.

It is a mistaken idea to suppose that a cow loses her cud, and one must be substituted. And we take it that you use this expression to indicate that the animal is sick and does not remasticate her food. Where remastication popularly known as chewing the cud, is suspended the following treatment has been highly recommended and found very beneficial: Give as a laxative 1-2 pound each of common salt and epsom salts in a quart of water and three times daily a tablespoonful of carbonate of iron, pulverized gentian, pulverized fenigreek each 4 ounces. Also mix with the food 3 tablespoonfuls of powdered charcoal.

NITROGEN.

What amount of plant food or ammonia is contained in the following fertilizer material: Blood dried, nitrate of soda and cotton seed meal? How much does cotton seed contain?

M. B., Hampton, Ga.

The percentages vary. Blood runs usually from 14 to 18 per cent, nitrate of soda, from 15 to 20 per cent; cotton seed meal, from 8 to 9 per cent; cotton seed, from 2 to 3.

SWEET POTATO CULTURE.

Please give me what you consider the best method of planting and cultivating sweet potatoes? A. M. H.,
Social Circle.

We are pleased to note your interest in the cultivation of the sweet potato. The late Gustave Speth of the state experiment station introduced an article on its culture with these words:

"There are few crops at home in our southern states that have been more neglected and whose value and usefulness have been less appreciated than the sweet potato."

That it merits more attention cannot be questioned, and is strongly evidenced by its value to the market gardener in dollars and cents and for home consumption on every farm.

PREPARATION.

For the sweet potato the land should be thoroughly prepared, well pulverized and subsoiled. The plant requires considerable moisture and thus can be best conserved by deep plowing and subsoiling. The ordinary custom of setting the plants on a bed and in the process of cultivation hilling up the beds we believe will be found best on wet land or or a rainy season, but consider the method of many of the experiments at the state station of flat culture as advantageous on dry land, and when the season is a dry one, the slips should be set 2 feet apart in rows 3 1-2 or 4 feet apart, two to the hill, and care should be taken to have a good stand by replanting wherever a slip fails to grow, and this replanting should be done at the earliest possible time. The cultivation of the crop should be rapid and thorough until the vines become so large as to become injured. As a fertilizer, like the Irish potato, the sweet potato requires one in which potash is the dominant.

CORN.

In cultivating corn which do you prefer, shallow or deep culture?
O. L. C., Bartow.

We believe in thorough preparation and shallow cultivation. Experiments have sufficiently demonstrated that in nearly every instance shallow culture will give an increased yield. The increase is not very marked, but when considered in connection with the increased cost attending deep cultivation, forms a potent reason why this system should be adopted.

MANURING THE ORCHARD.

Would it do well to give my orchard a dressing with stable manure at this season of the year?
M. T. O.,
White Plains.

Stable manure should have been applied in the autumn if used, but in our opinion it is not the best dressing, especially for young orchards, for when applied too liberally it is likely to force an undesirable growth, and experiments indicate that it does not contain phosphoric acid in sufficient proportions to balance the amount of nitrogen it contains. A dressing of ground bone or of acid phosphate is therefore beneficial in conjunction. At this time of the year it is best to apply a quick acting high grade commercial fertilizer.

DISTANCE TO PLANT.

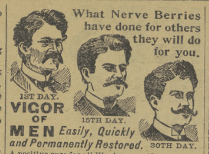

What do you consider the best distance to plant corn, and what cotton?
L. M. T., Mt. Vernon.

The distance to plant either corn or cotton depends on the character of the soil, and the farmer must be governed by this as no certain rules can be given. Again, the rules governing the two are diametrically opposed to each other. Thus on rich soil we plant corn close, while we give cotton more distance. On less fertile land the reverse is the case, that is, corn is given more distance and cotton planted closer.

IRISH POTATOES.

What do you consider the best form of potash for the Irish potato, muriate or sulphate? J. P. F., Canton, Ga.

For the potato crop, sulphate is thought so be better than muriate, and is said to give a larger yield and a better quality.

What Nerve Berries have done for others they will do for you.

Love's Little Day.

Lo! 'tis the golden morn,
And on the air are borne
Song of the wooing bird and drone of bee.
Arise! oh love of mine,
Improving the morning shine.
Sweet! there's but one to-day for you and me.

Shadows of afternoon
Fall on our path too soon,
Deep'ning until they reach the evening gray.
From father shores of night
May rise to-morrows bright,
But, Love, for us, there is but one to-day

Graves of dead yesterdays,
Lie along the ways
By which we came to stand together thus,
We look in vain to see
Where the to-morrows be.
Dear heart! there is but just to-day for us.

A Costly Timekeeper.

One of the most wonderful timekeepers known to the horologist was made in London about one hundred years ago and sent by the president of the East India Company as a gift of the Emperor of China. The case was made in the form of a chariot, in which was seated the figure of a woman. This figure was of pure ivory and gold, and sat with her right hand resting on a tiny clock fastened to the side of the vehicle. A part of the wheels which kept track of the flight of time were hidden in the body of a tiny bird, which had seemingly just alighted upon the lady's finger. Above was a canopy so arranged as to conceal a silver bell. This bell was fitted with a miniature hammer of the same metal, and, although it appeared to have no connection with the clock, regularly struck the hours, and could be made to repeat by touching a diamond button on the lady's bodice. In the chariot at the ivory lady's feet there was the golden figure of a dog, and above and in front were two birds, apparently flying before the chariot. This beautiful ornament was made almost entirely of gold, and was elaborately decorated with precious stones.—[St. Louis Republic.

"What's that?" asked Charley.

Charley—"Oh, that's easily enough disposed of. Used to be the same way myself, but I caught on to the trouble one day, and got rid of it in no time."

George—"What was it?"

Charley—"Simple blood eruptions. Took a short course of P. P. P. I tell you, its the best blood corrector. DAHLONEGA, JUNE 15, 1894.

Texas has 150 reform papers.

The democrats of Troup county demand free silver.

The strikers are blowing up bridges and burning trestles in Alabama.

One of North Carolina's supreme court judges has declared for the Populist.

The wheat crop of Texas is being harvested and will run up 600,000 more than last year.

Niagara county, New York, polled 750 Populist votes last fall, and 1,900 this spring.

A woman named Minnie Williams fell dead in Atlanta one day this week while quarreling.

The Durango Herald, of Colorado, a daily paper, has recovered its senses and hoisted the Populist flag.

"Buck" Candler of Blairsville, has announced his candidacy for the solicitorship of the northeastern circuit.

The merchant and farmer should walk arm in arm. Their interests are identical.—American Standard, Kearney, Neb.

The chairman of the democratic party of the 18th Ohio district has quit the party and announced his adherence to the Populist.

The Georgia Bankers have endorsed President Cleveland. This surprises no one for this class of people are his special friends.

W. P. Brewer, Populist, was elected tax collector at Hinesville, Ga., getting a majority of 12 votes over two democratic opponents.

All the endorsement that Mr. Cleveland's administration can get will not keep a republican out of the presidential chair next time.

Mr. Geo. E. Pease, member of the Colorado State Democratic Executive Committee, has resigned and announced himself a Populist.

A member of the executive committee of Lumpkin remarked to us Tuesday that he was an old time "Jefferson" democrat and intended to stick to it.

Patrick, H. Winston, late United States district attorney for the state of Washington, has abandoned the Republican party and joined the Populists.

There is no use of talking about bullets as long as the ballot is with in reach. Strike with the ballot and be free.—Independent Press, Franklin Neb.

Fulton county had a democratic "mass" meeting Saturday. Out of ten thousand voters of the county there were said to be only about 400 at this meeting.

One of the executive committee of the democratic party told us Tuesday that he believed Lumpkin county would give Judge Hines a majority for Governor.

A democrat in speaking of nominations, said last week he "would vote for a yellow dog if he was nominated." Just such as this has got the country in its present condition.

Banker John H. James and lawyer Blackburn had a lively fisticuff fight in Atlanta the other day. They didn't take time to endorse Mr. Cleveland on this occasion.

J. T. Stephens announced his candidacy for the legislature a few days ago in Randolph county and had many warm supporters, a short time after making the announcement he became crazy and had to be sent to the asylum.

Mr. Johnathan Williams of Dahlonega, informs us that his eldest brother who is 70 years of age and always been a democrat, residing in Rabun county, writes him this week that he is going to vote the people's party ticket.

The present money orders will soon pass out of existance, as well as postal notes. The new issue of money orders will be ready for use the first of July. There will be no more postal notes but you can get a money order for less than five dollars for three cents, which will be much safer.

Our statement that the democratic committee held its recent meeting with closed doors has been disputed. That was our information, and our opposing brethren must not tear their hair, for we belonged to the democratic party so long and got into habits that are hard to break off from, and should we unintentionally misquote things at any time they must not get mad at the same thing they do themselves during campaigns.

Atkinson Still Ahead.

Mr. Atkinson is still in the lead. He is ahead in counties as well as votes—being 36 now, and still gaining.

Can't Vote.

Resolutions were adopted by the recent meeting of the democratic executive committee of Lumpkin county allowing only democrats, and those who will stick to the nominee to vote in the primary, which comes off in this county for Governor and Congressman, on the third Saturday in July, next.

Those who are now saying if they do not get their choice for Governor nominated that they will not vote at all will bear in mind that they can't vote in the primary election.

Will Not Run.

Congressman Bryan, of Nebraska, in his letter declining to stand for reelection, says:

"If the President's financial policy becomes the policy of the party, I do not see any reason for the continued existence of the party, because the republicans, having followed that policy longer are better prepared than we to support it."

The above puts the matter in its true light. What is the use to keep up the two organizations when there is no difference in the principles or policy.

Those Resolutions.

It was our intention last week to publish the resolutions adopted by the recent democratic executive committee of Lumpkin county, but they were not furnished us until 11:10 o'clock Thursday, after we had run off nearly all our papers, and it was impossible for us to do so. It is our intention to give the news, for our subscribers' politics are considerably mixed. All of the committee except four are our patrons, in fact a majority of the democrats of Lumpkin county take the SIGNAL—some of them read no other county paper but the old reliable.

Col. M. G. Boyd a Candidate.

It will be seen elsewhere that Col. M. G. Boyd, of Dahlonega, is a candidate for senator of the 32nd Senatorial District of Georgia. As to the Colonel's ability no one doubts, and the special matters he refers to would most certainly receive his attention if elected. But a line has been drawn and we sit upon the opposite side of the fence, but this gives us no reason to abuse and criticize him, and we shall not do it.

In all probability a people's party candidate will put in his appearance in a short time in order to make the race interesting, and the one that the republicans lend a helping hand will go to the senate beyond a doubt.

Why He Quits the Democratic Party.

Another prominent democrat leaves the old corrupt ship of democracy. Here is what he says:

I wish to say to those that know me that my withdrawal from the so called democratic party is solely a question of honesty on my part.

I promised the friends of reform in the last campaign that if the democratic party did not carry out its promises I would be with them in the future.

I seek no office, nor notoriety, nor do I court the friendship or patronage of any one. I stand for honest principles and cannot afford to barter them for any personal gain.

I have worked earnestly for the cause of modern democracy, trusting that when it was entrusted with the affairs of the nation, that peace and prosperity would return, but the present administration is enough to convince any one that modern democracy is a failure. It is time for all who favor good government to seriously confide the conditions that confront them regardless of party name. R. S. HARRIS,

Bethlehem, Ga.

N. G. A. COLLEGE.

Twenty-Second Annual Commencement.

The 22nd annual commencement of the N. G. A. College closed last Wednesday evening, June 13, 1894.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Henry McDonald, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., to a large and attentive audience at 11 o'clock, a. m., Sunday, who preached again at night in the Chapel, and the occasion was one marked with interest to the lovers of fine, heartfelt theological truths.

Monday morning promptly at the ringing of the college bell the chapel was filled with hundreds of visitors who had come from nearly all sections of the country to witness the interesting exercises, programed for the day, which was taken up in declamations by the pupils. At 6, p. m., the individual and battalion drill was heroically contested and the occasion was one of marked interest throughout.

The entertainment of the Corona Society took place at 8:30, p. m., and standing room was not obtainable by a large number of people in the chapel, who wished to witness the exercises. The pleasure of this occasion was enjoyed by the dense audience which crowded the large chapel. The actors found it difficult to acquit themselves satisfactorily on account of the crowded condition of the rostrum by eager spectators. Notwithstanding the crowded condition, amid the heat, crying of babies and every thing else that could occur to marr the pleasures of the occasion, the entertainment was enjoyed very much. The music furnished by the U. S. Artillery Band, of Atlanta, was excellent, and lent a large part in making the exercises a success in every particular.

Tuesday the prize declamation of Freshman and Sophomore classes took place. At 6, p. m. the sham battle was witnessed by about one thousand people on the drill ground. This interesting feature in our exercises is always marked with great interest by the people throughout the country who come for miles around, and even from adjoining counties to witness the rendition of that part of the program which is a fac similee of a genuine battle. Many an old battle scarred veteran was present and tears ran down the cheeks in witnessing this reminder of the days of contention for southern independence.

The addresses before the Alumni Society were delivered by H. Clay Fairman, editor of the Sunny South, Atlanta, Ga., and Col. D. S. Craig, of Gainesville, which were listened to with much interest, after which the medals were awarded as follows:

Mathematics, W. R. Sinquefield. Honorable mention, P. E. Smith, G. F. Pettit, J. P. Cheney, W. L. Kinsey.

1st prize for best shooting at target, Capt. W. H. Steele, Co. B. 2nd prize, private W. P. McGee, Co. B. 3rd prize, private C. M. Cowart, Co. B.

The 13th, or third day, was occupied in the champion debate, junior and senior speakers, graduating exercises, delivering diplomas, etc. After the program had been completed, President Waddell gave a little talk, sympathizing with the students who were about to separate from each other, which brought tears from the eyes of every pupil. He commended them in the highest terms for their good conduct and well gotten lessons. A hand shaking took place and many departed for their homes that night.

Thus the 22nd annual commencement has come to a close and the session just ended has been one marked with the greatest success which it has attained for many years. The attendance has been unusually large, and the trustees and faculty have been very diligent in their work for the promotion of the institution in every department, and their efforts should be commended in behalf of the great institution which has accomplished so much in its career for free education.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the 32nd Senatorial District of Georgia, Composed of White, Lumpkin and Dawson.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—

I take this method of announcing to you my candidacy for the Senate in the ensuing election which occurs on the 3d day of October next.

It is known to you that I am a Democrat, and still believe it better to try and correct whatever evils may exist inside the party, rather than abandon it and make war upon both the evil and the good.

Some questions of vital importance to the State at large are to come before the next General Assembly. Among those I consider the most important of all others, is the proper disposition of the Penitentiary convicts of the State. For nearly twenty years these convicts have been under the control and management of private individuals and corporations who have worked and used them in the mines, brick yards, lumber camps and farms—thus bringing them in direct competition with honest, free labor. This ought not to be. The State is able to care for, work and control her convicts; and should not delegate her authority to individuals or corporations. I favor such legislation as will involve the State in the least expense—remove the objection of competitative labor and insure to the convict humane treatment.

I believe the State can work these convicts with profit to itself and without injury to any of its citizens.

I believe the State should foster with parental care, her common school system; and go on perfecting that system, just begun, that will ultimately bring thorough practical education to the door of the very humblest citizen within her borders.

To the unfortunates, such as the insane, the deaf and dumb, the blind and the old and impoverished citizens of the State, I believe we should give these the largest substantial sympathy and support needful for their comfort.

This is your country, and mine; and I will consent for no man, without challenge, whether he be Democrat, Populist or Republican, to say that he loves it more than I. These are some of the questions for discussion and legislation. Others may and will arise. I hope to reach many of you before the election and talk freely and fully with you upon all matters pertaining to the welfare and prosperity of our State. If I am to have opposition, I would gladly meet my opponent and discuss the issues with him.

If honored and trusted by your suffrage, I pledge you an honest, faithful and industrious effort to represent you to the best of my ability and promise that my votes shall be, in my humble judgment, cast "for the best interest of Georgia."

I am your obedient Servant and Fellow Citizen. M. G. BOYD.

The Populist Treasurer.

Colonel C. M. Jones, of Barlow county, the nominee of the People's Party for State Treasurer, was born in DeKalb county, Georgia, and was married to Miss Sarah Carroll of Gwinett county, who was related to the best people of the county. He resided in DeKalb county until 1874. Then he removed to Barlow county, near Cartersville where he has since resided. Colonel Jones is a splendid specimen of the best Georgia farmer; he is a self-made man of about sixty years of age; he has an interesting family of boys and girls all of whom are caracterized by the strong plain common sense which has always distinguished their father. Colonel Jones has been repeatedly honored with the highest offices within the gift of the people of his county; he was representative of his county in the legislature in 1882 and '83. His county is one of the leading counties of the state. Colonel Jones is a self-taught man never having been to any college and having gotten most of his book learning at the common "old field" schools of his early days in DeKalb county.

To use his own quaint language "I have always been an organized democrat until the party left me in the reform movement."

Personally Colonel Jones is a fine specimen of physical manhood; he has a large well formed head and a strong body under it. In manner he is pleasantly plain and singularly direct without being in the least offensive, even to persons who disagree with his political principles. His devotion to the reform movement as interpreted by the Populist party amounts to consecration.

Colonel Jones was amongst the first of his county to enter the service of the Confederacy and fought through the war at first as a private and soon thereafter as first lieutenant in Company F. 36th Georgia regiment, which office he held about two years and was then elected lieutenant Colonel of the Second Georgia Reserve, General L. J. Gartrell his Brigadier General. Colonel Jones surrendered General Gartrell's brigade he being ranking officer, and General Gartrell being wounded and not able to be on duty at the time. Colonel Jones officer commanding surrendered the brigade to Sherman's army.

Colonel Jones will watch the people's money with that same care that he has his own interests and the purse of the state will be safe in his hands.

Colonel Jones is popular all over Georgia and thousands of people will be glad to cast their votes for him. He is a middle of the road Populist, and you always know just where to find him.

Her Boy's Suffering After Diphtheria

Hood's Cave Good Health and Strength.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has done so much for my boy that I wish to say a few words in praise of this wonderful medicine. Clifford was very ill with diphtheria and it left him suffering with Bright's disease. He was very weak, poor in flesh and could hardly walk. Malaria fever soon overtook him and together with trouble with his liver,

He Was in Much Misery.

At last almost discouraged, I decided to have him try Hood's Sarsaparilla. He has taken only a few bottles, and yet it has done him more good than all the previous medical treatment

Mr. G. L. Gunter, who has been residing in this county for years, will leave for the West Monday week.

Quarterly meeting will be held the 4th Sunday, Rev. Mr. Underwood will preach both at day and night.

Forty-one teachers' licenses were delivered to students Tuesday night by the president of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. J. B. Waters lost his day book, some receipts and freight bills, while returning from Gainesville Tuesday. The finder will please send them to him.

There will be an all day meeting at the Dahlonega camp ground next Sunday and no services will be held at the Methodist church at Dahlonega during the day.

The marshal requests us to state that parties will be fined for hitching to any of the trees in the grove above the old muster ground, belonging to the Hand & Barlow Co.

A carrier pigeon was killed at Mr. James McAfees in White county recently through a mistake, with a ring on its leg having "R. B. Y., No. 138" on it. Who'se it?

We regret to learn that Miss Noona Ware, who was attending college here, received a telegram first of the week summoning her home to attend the funeral of her aunt who had died suddenly.

Wm. Crow and his sister Sarah, who reside in Chestatee district, were lodged in jail Wednesday, charged with assault with intent to murder. They waylaid and unmercifully beat Hulda Hester, who was returning home Tuesday, with sticks.

When the band struck up Dixie on the square Tuesday, some old ex-confederate soldiers, who were close by, gave the yell. Forty policeman with twenty gatling guns couldn't keep an old soldier who wore the gray, from hollowing when this tune is played.

The marshal informs us that the report is being circulated that he ordered a countryman, who had a team, off the square the other day, and wishes us to state that the teamster had stopped his wagon on the crossing leading to the post office and that he only requested him to drive off the crossing.

Mr. Tom Williamson has given us a hen egg which is two eggs joined together with a very small neck. Mr. Williamson says it is a Cleveland egg, and that he has that kind of chickens for sale at cost.—Jackson Argus.

Mr. Gresham has a half interest in this egg and we intend that he shall get credit for it. It is a Cleveland-Gresham egg.

June 8, 4t.

Mr. A. L. Wimpy is around shaking hands and desires the voters to place him in jail for at least two years, commencing next January.

Mr. Wm. Stumon and Miss Annie Higgins were married last Sunday by Rev. A. F. Norton. May they enjoy peace, happiness and prosperity.

It is estimated that nine hundred people attended the young ladies entertainment at the college Monday night. There was not even standing room for many.

Many people were present at the foot washing at Oak Grove church last Sunday. Interesting services were conducted by Revs. T. J. Dowdy and J. E. Blackburn.

Several of the members of the Gold Hill band got together Thursday and Friday nights and gave us some good music, notwithstanding the fact they had been disbanded for many months.

The SIGNAL office was crowded with job work last week. We had orders from different political parties and served them all alike. Come or send in again gentlemen, we will treat you likewise.

Sheriff Brooksher visited Jasper last week for the purpose of bringing back Bridge Patterson who had been arrested there on a warrant sent from this county charging him with killing a cow.

Candidates for county offices are beginning to poke out their heads. We understand that there are already three in the field for tax receiver—Allen G. Anderson, John Marr and R. R. Stargel, the present receiver.

It has been reported that Mr. J. M. Brooksher would make the race again this time for sheriff. We will state for the benefit of those that are interested, that he told us this week that he would positively not be in the field.

Mr. Warren Whelchel, returned from the West again last week. He says the rest of the Lumpkin county boys who went with him are well pleased with the country and will doubtless make the far West their future homes.

We undertook to make a personal note of all who visited Dahlonega this week, but they came in such crowds and so fast that if they had been birds, it would have been very difficult to have gotten them all down with a gatling gun.

The people in the vicinity of Burtsboro have been without any mail for two weeks or more and Mr. Burt had to send to this office for his papers last week or do without anything to read. It is very unfortunate for the citizens that men will take a mail contract so low that they are unable to carry it out.

We noticed among the many visitors this week quite a number of gentleman that had graduated at the N. G. A. College. Many of them who had left here years ago, beardless young men, starting out into the world to follow different occupations, had developed into manhood and their features had so changed by the fleeing course of time that they were unrecognizable by our citizens who had often seen them passing to and from the college. Some of them, since their schoolboy days here, had occupied seats in the legislature, while others had been successful in various other occupations. Matters not how old they get and what avocation in life they follow, a young man graduated here is always glad to get back to Dahlonega and view the college on the hill. What fond recollections it brings to their memories, and we assure you it is a pleasure for us to see them here.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE

There is nothing marvelous in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla should cure so many diseases. When you remember that a majority of the disorders "flesh is heir to" are due to impure or poisonous condition of the blood, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla is an effective and radical blood purifier, the whole thing is explained.

Besides its blood purifying qualities, Hood's Sarsaparilla also contains the best known vegetable stomach tonics, diuretics, kidney remedies and liver invigorants, and is thus an excellent specific for all disorders of these organs, as well as for low conditions of the system, or That Tired Feeling.

Needing a tonic, or children who want building up should use

A committee of senators and representatives were appointed at the last legislature to visit our college, but these were the only members of that body putting in their appearance.

When an editor, at the beginning of a campaign, washes the rust from his face and gives it a heavy coat of swans down, gets so nice that he eats nothing but humming bird pies, and not then unless they are caught by a democrat, and picks up his ostrich quill pen and remarks that he intends to "sling no mud," you may look out for it is sure to be flirted in every direction.

Deputy Marshal Helton has been creating a considerable disturbance among the moonshiners. He destroyed three large distilleries last Thursday and about two thousand gallons of beer—two distilleries were located in Habersham county and one in White. On Thursday he brought to Dahlonega James White and Francis Seabolt of Chestatee district, this county, charged with illicit distilling, who were bound over by Com. Baker. The defendants made bond and returned home.

We have added several new subscribers to our list this week, a number of whom believe in the democratic doctrine, fully believing that it is the only channel through which the country can be saved. We return thanks to all, and will say to those who disagree with us politically speaking, that we do not expect to wound their feelings by abusing and ridiculing them like some of the hot headed politicians have done those who belong to the people's party. Nothing is gained by such conduct. If we cannot show you the "errors of your ways," you take your course and we'll take ours, and we will do so in peace.

GEORGIA CROP REPORT.

Issued by the State Department of Agriculture.

ANSWERS, SUGGESTIONS.

Showing Areas Planted, Condition of Growing Crops and Other Matters of Interest Relating to Agriculture.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
ATLANTA, May 1894.

A report on crop conditions and acreage compiled by the first of May is in many respects incomplete, yet contains sufficient information to be of benefit in arriving at more accurate data later in the season.

It is the intention of the department, as provided by law under this branch of the report, to secure statistics of our agricultural products for later compilation. With this end in view we request the reporters who have so efficiently served the department, to make their inquiries as extended as possible with the purpose of getting statistics that will be practically correct.

COTTON.

In regard to our staple crop of cotton it is gratifying to note that a small reduction in acreage is reported. While it would have been pleasing to record a marked decrease in acreage, yet the fact that the steps taken in the last few years to make cotton an independent money crop have not been retraced is cause for congratulation. It will be seen from the tabulated statement that the condition and prospect compared to an average of five years for the state is 9 per cent below the average, and that this decrease in prospect is most marked in Southwest Georgia, while Middle Georgia shows a condition nearly equal to the average of the last five years. Throughout the state the crop is from 10 to 15 days late, and where the plant is up many imperfect stands are reported.

CORN.

Several years have marked an increase in the acreage devoted to the corn crop and we trust the future will see no retrogression in this respect, and that the self sustaining farmer may be soon found all over Georgia. The condition of the crop, owing to the cold weather the latter part of March and the first of April, is about 6 per cent below an average of the last several years. Owing to the advanced condition of the crop in Southwestern Georgia the decrease in condition from the cold weather is greater in that than in anyother section of the state.

WHEAT.

As with corn, an increase in the acreage devoted to this cereal is shown. In the corresponding report for last season we were pleased to note an increase in acreage in the same crop and to state that the previous falling off in acreage promises to be recovered. All North Georgia and much of Middle Georgia is well adapted to this cereal and more care should be taken in its cultivation." present prices are not remunerative, but in a rotation of crop looking to the upbuilding and preservation of the land, it can very properly find a place. During the year in the reports of the department we have on several occasions called attention to the best methods of fertilizing and of cultivating this crop, which we hope has received the attention of our farmers.

OATS.

No change in the acreage devoted to this crop for the entire state is shown. Southwest, Middle and East Georgia show a slight gain which is lost in the other sections of the state. For the entire state the condition and prospect may be regarded as poor.

FRUIT.

Our rapidly developing horticultural interest has suffered this spring the greatest disaster of this character perhaps that the state has ever passed through. Certain it is that there has never been such a wholesale destruction of the fruit crop since this interest developed beyond the orchard for home use. While the destruction has been so great and the loss so heavy, yet those engaged in the business are not disheartened, as they recognize the fact that so severe a freeze is indeed a rare occurrence in Georgia.

In some localities a few peaches will be made, and a moderate gathering of apples may be expected.

GRASSES.

The meadow lands throughout the state are in fine condition, and interest in forage crops is developing.

LABOR.

Labor conditions remain about the same, with no scarcity reported.

TABULATED STATEMENT.

The following table gives a comprehensive view of the condition and prospect with the acreage of the most important crops:

	North Georgia	Middle Georgia	Southwest Georgia	Southeast Georgia	East Georgia	State
Cotton acreage compared to last year.	77 2-3	87 3-5	88	88	83 1-3	84 1-4 or mules should never be allowed to enter.

GRAFTING WAX.

Please give me a recipe for grafting wax. H. O. T., Cloundale.

Take equal parts of rosin, beeswax and tallow and melt them together. Half the quantity of linseed oil may be used instead of the tallow. When the mixture is cool it should be pulled to give toughness.

LOST CUD.

I have a cow that has "lost her cud," what must I do for her. H. O. N., Bluffton.

It is a mistaken idea to suppose that a cow loses her cud, and one must be substituted. And we take it that you use this expression to indicate that the animal is sick and does not remasticate her food. Where remastication popularly known as chewing the cud, is suspended the following treatment has been highly recommended and found very beneficial: Give as a laxative 1-2 pound each of common salt and epsom salts in a quart of water and three times daily a tablespoonful of carbonate of iron, pulverized gentian, pulverized fenigreck each 4 ounces. Also mix with the food 3 tablespoonfuls of powdered charcoal.

NITROGEN.

What amount of plant food or ammonia is contained in the following fertilizer material: Blood dried, nitrate of soda and cotton seed meal? How much does cotton seed contain? H. B., Hampton, Ga.

The percentages vary. Blood runs usually from 14 to 18 per cent, nitrate of soda, from 15 to 20 per cent; cotton seed meal, from 8 to 9 per cent; and cotton seed, from 2 to 3.

SWEET POTATO CULTURE.

Please give me what you consider the best method of planting and cultivating sweet potatoes? A. M. H., Social Circle.

We are pleased to note your interest in the cultivation of the sweet potato. The late Gustave Speth of the state experiment station introduced an article on its culture with these words:

"There are few crops at home in our southern states that have been more neglected and whose value and usefulness have been less appreciated than the sweet potato."

That it merits more attention cannot be questioned, and is strongly evidenced by its value to the market gardener in dollars and cents and for home consumption on every farm.

PREPARATION.

For the sweet potato the land should be thoroughly prepared, well pulverized and subsoiled. The plant requires considerable moisture and thus can be best conserved by deep plowing and subsoiling. The ordinary custom of setting the plants on a bed and in the process of cultivation hilling up the beds we believe will be found best on wet land or or a rainy season, but consider the method of many of the experiments at the state station of flat culture as advantageous on dry land, and when the season is a dry one, the slips should be set 2 feet apart in rows 3 1-2 or 4 feet apart, two to the hill, and care should be taken to have a good stand by replanting wherever a slip fails to grow, and this replanting should be done at the earliest possible time. The cultivation of the crop should be rapid and thorough until the vines become so large as to become injured. As a fertilizer, like the Irish potato, the sweet potato requires one in which potash is the dominant.

CORN.

In cultivating corn which do you prefer, shallow or deep culture? O. L. C., Bartow.

We believe in thorough preparation and shallow cultivation. Experiments have sufficiently demonstrated that in nearly every instance shallow culture will give an increased yield. The increase is not very marked, but when considered in connection with the increased cost attending deep cultivation, forms a potent reason why this system should be adopted.

MANURING THE ORCHARD.

Would it do well to give my orchard a dressing with stable manure at this season of the year? M. T. O., White Plains.

Stable manure should have been applied in the autumn if used, but in our opinion it is not the best dressing, especially for young orchards, for when applied too liberally it is likely to force an undesirable growth, and experiments indicate that it does not contain phosphoric acid in sufficient proportions to balance the amount of nitrogen it contains. A dressing of ground bone or of acid phosphate is therefore beneficial in conjunction. At this time of the year it is best to apply a quick acting high grade commercial fertilizer.

DISTANCE TO PLANT.

What do you consider the best distance to plant corn, and what cotton? L. M. T., Mt. Vernon.

The distance to plant either corn or cotton depends on the character of the soil, and the farmer must be governed by this as no certain rules can be given. Again, the rules governing the two are diametrically opposed to each other. Thus on rich soil we plant corn close, while we give cotton more distance. On less fertile land the reverse is the case, that is, corn is given more distance and cotton planted closer.

IRISH POTATOES.

What do you consider the best form of potash for the Irish potato, muriate or sulphate? J. P. F., Canton, Ga.

For the potato crop, sulphate is thought so be better than muriate, and is said to give a larger yield and a better quality.

Letter From J. P. Parker.

PRYOR CREEK, I. T.,
June 12, 1894.

ED. SIGNAL:—

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say to my friends hear from me.

Well, in the first place I am in very bad health this spring, am now improving but hope I will soon be all right. I receive your paper regularly which gives me the news back at home and keeps me cheered up considerably. It acts like a medicine to me.

We have fine wheat crops in this section. Corn is looking well; oats are fine, and in fact everything a person wants to raise, grows fine here. We have a good garden and about twenty-two acres in corn here on my childrens place. No wheat, but it can be bought here at 25 or 30 cents per bushel.

I was glad to see that the people's party in old Lumpkin is in a flourishing condition. I have read over the proceedings of the last meeting three or four times. I was glad to see that brother McAfee had announced himself publicly on the people's party ticket. Hope he will succeed in every thing he may engage in. We have other men there that would be bright lights to the people's party if they could only see the errors of their way before it is too late, for instance, Cols. M. G. Boyd and W. A. Charters. They are men that could be depended upon in any office if they would only get in the middle of the road, the way in which they should travel, and carry the people's banner. But they are honest in their belief but I really feel sorry for them in their present condition.

I have watched the records of congress the best I could and see that Hon. F. C. Tate has voted right in the interest of the laboring class, but the poor fellow has no chance when his own party will vote him down. Tate would make a good member if he only had a chance.

I see from your paper that the sons of rest is about to go down and that I would be petitioned to go back and revive it. I was very thankful for the honor and would return to Dahlonega by being strongly petitioned if I thought I could revive it, but if the society goes down under the able management of Sheriff Brookshier assisted by James Harbison, what could a man of my cloth do? I fear the sons of rest is like the democratic party, is dying a natural death and all we can say is peace to their ashes.

Well Joe, I wish you and friend Townsend could come out and see this country. It is certainly a fine one.

The U. S. Government is paying out the strip money now at Tahlequah and will begin at Vinita the 18th inst. It is a harvest for the robbers. A man and two women have already been killed near Tahlequah. I hear of a great deal of trouble over there. We had a killing at Pryor Creek Friday—a man named Mayes was shot by one McBain and then made his escape. They were both citizens of the Nation and white men I suppose. I hear of bank robbers being killed every few days. No new thing out here for a man or two to be killed. I think when this country is turned into a State such conduct as this will be broken up which I am satisfied will not be very long. The rich men here are opposed to it being made into a state, but that makes no difference with the Government.

Well, Joe, I must tell you about Millie's oldest girl, Girtrue, just a little over seven years of age. She never went to school a day in her life, and she is now a regular reader of the SIGNAL. She found the piece in the paper about the sons of rest and brought the paper and read it to me and said for me not to go.

I am going to Vinita next week but if any letters come for me they will be forwarded by Frank. What has become of friend Townsend? Tell him I would like to get a letter from him. So hoping to hear from you all soon, I remain

Your Friend,
J. P. PARKER.

Get Together.

It is now the imperative duty of every individual engaged in every occupation outside of money loaning and stock gambling to get together for mutual defense.

The fact can no longer be disguised that a decisive contest is now on between manhood and money, between the law-abiding citizen and the ever enlarging dollar. There is no time for quibbling or sentimental trifling, the end has come and the choice between freedom and slavery must be made at once. It is not only the laboring men that are suffering, but the business men as well. The manufacturer, the mechanic, the merchant, and the laborer must all go down together, and that too, in the near future unless times soon change for the better.

There never was a time in the history of this country, when the future was so dark and gloomy for the industrial portion of our people as at the present time. The calamity howl of a few years since has become almost universal, having reached all the producing and distributing classes. The merchant with his store full of goods, stands facing the farmer with his barns full of grain. The cost of production takes the entire income of the farmer and prevents him from making purchases of the merchant. Meantime, the merchant makes sacrifices to meet his bills, and the result is commercial failures and mortgage foreclosures.

Now, if these victims of a vicious national economy will get together, study well the situation and vote as they think, the entire economic condition of the country can be changed in a few months. If the producing and distributing interests would unite against the moneyed oligarchy that now controls national affairs it could be overthrown with ease. But, should such action be much longer delayed, poverty and distress will prevent such a concert of action, and continued servitude will be the inevitable result.

Let us all get together and make a determined fight against the common enemy. It will surely come, and the sooner the more easily accomplished. We appeal to merchants and business men generally to drop all sentiment and join with the great plain people in a last, final, peaceful effort for industrial freedom.—Farmers' Outlook.

Dahlonega Signal.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 22, 1894.

Georgia had in her treasury on the first day of April $2,493,535,84.

General James B. Weaver has been nominated for Congress by the 9th Congressional district of Iowa.

Judge McWhorter resigns the Judgeship of the northern circuit in order to enter the race for Congress against Judge Lawson.

The Bkirsville Free Press will resume publication in a week or so and will be run in the interest of the people's party.

It is stated that an effort was being made this week to blow up the capitol of the United States. A half breed Indian was the leader.

Last election thousands of people voted with the democratic party to give them a chance. Now vote for Judge Hines and give the populist a chance.

Secretary of State Walter Q. Gresham is said to be the candidate of the Illinois populists for United States Senator, to succeed Senator Cullum.

Col. Candler will likely be nominated on the democratic ticket for Secretary of State. This will probably reconcile the Colonel and he will cling on to the old party.

Mr. Joseph McGee, of Union county, who has always been a democrat, severed himself from that party last Friday and declared himself for the people's party.

Cochran, Ga., has a strange phenomenon. Tuesday of last week the citizens discovered ice several inches thick in one of the public wells and the water hot in another within a radius of a hundred yards.

A negro assaulted the wife of Dr. Wright near Forsyth, Ga., this week. He was taken away from the sheriff and lynched, and a paper containing the following, was pinned on his coat: "Tried and found guilty, and others found guilty of such will be disposed of in the same way. We are here to protect the virtue of our women."

Signed, 297 Citizens.

The state bank bill was killed by a democratic congress, although this was one of the planks of the Chicago platform. Now, the democrats are ready to throw up their hats and yell for the democratic party. It matters not how democrats are so ignorant that they will still cling to the old party.—Living Issues.

It looks now very much like W. Y. Atkinson would get the nomination, by fair means or foul. We have no particular objections except as our sense of fair dealing in politics would revolt at such affairs as the Fannin county steal. Should W. Y. Atkinson be nominated the by-no-means sweet smell of his record will drive many a good man to vote for Judge Hines, a man who is above the cheap tricks of a political wire puller.—Ellijay Courier.

According to the Evans papers, Mr. Atkinson is a rascally scoundrel and hardly fit to be hung. Taking the Atkinson mediums as a criterion of Mr. Evans, we find he is a hypocrite, and not fit to hold office. Now, voters, cast your ballots for Hon. J. K. Hines, and save the Grand old State of Georgia from being disgraced by either of the Democratic candidates for the Governor's chair.—Advocate-Democrat.

A dispatch from Waycross, Ga., dated June 13th says: A negro assaulted a highly respected young lady, daughter of Mr. Mose Herring, of Pierce county, about fifteen miles southeast from Blackshear, Monday morning. After accomplishing his purpose he escaped to the woods, but was pursued and caught by a mob numbering twenty or thirty men, who, after hanging him awhile, took him down and skinned him alive. He lived six hours after the skin had been taken from his body.

District Attorney Joe James of Atlanta, proposes to introduce a resolution at the state gubernatorial convention to change the Constitution so as to exempt $300 worth of the property of each man from taxation. This is another democratic bait to catch votes. Of course it will be no trouble to pass this in the convention, but after the election is over and the legislature convenes, it will be killed like a poisonous snake. It would share the same fate as the free coinage of silver promised us by the democrats.

Who Will Challenge?

It is said that many votes will be challenged at the democratic primary election in Lumpkin county which comes off next month. Do they expect to prevent those democrats from voting who supported a republican four years ago, or will they blot this all out and commence anew? Clear your own eye of the mote first so that you can see the way clearly.

How Inconsistent.

Four years ago many who are now endeavoring to teach us how to vote, asserting that we must give democracy another chance, supported a republican in preference to an old democratic, ex-confederate soldier, for the highest office within the gift of the voters of Lumpkin county. Then the democrats broke the ranks and a new party was organized and we have had no inducements to go back into the old ship which was deserted by its leaders in time of distress.

Just Listen.

We are reliably informed that Mr. James Head, one of the members of the democratic executive committee of Lumpkin county says he expects to vote for Judge Hines. Mr. W. J. Burt, another member of the committee, is quoted as saying that he did not expect to cast his vote for another lawyer. Of course this decision will not help Judge Hines, but it will be sad news to some of our democratic lawyers of this county, who are offering their services to the voters.

Book of Chronicles.

Now it came to pass that there was a division in the house of the Demos and they all cried with one voice, we will not leave this man Atkinson to rule over us. So they beseeched one Clemeth, surnamed Evans, a Godly man, to do battle for them. And Clemeth rose up in his might and said, we will wipe this man Atkinson and his followers from the face of the earth, and the house of the Demos said, amen! And they gathered all their sheekles together and with one accord called upon one William, surnamed Mac., to lead them on to victory. Now William had a lancet called the Nugget, to probe the [illegible] of men, he called upon one Joseph, surnamed Allen, a High Priest of the council, to help or they loose the battle. And Joseph heard the voice of William and called the council together, and they sat in council from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof and done many wonderful things that are not recorded in this book of chronicles. And one called Dry Pond, surnamed Billy, who is high up in the council, beseeched them to make him a ruler, but they heard him not. And Joseph issued his decree calling upon his subjects from the four corners of the county to meet in their places, they have been wont to meet and battle for Clemeth, a man of God. And the decree has gone out and the faithful are gathering from all parts of the county to meet in battle array on the 21st day of July, next. And William, surnamed Mac. stands with his lancet unsheathed to strike terror to the hearts of the enemy, and many things which come to pass will be written in this book of chronicles.

Z.

Some of the democrats of Dahlonega are shaving off their beard. They had rather take them off now themselves than to have them scorched off during the heated campaign which we are about to enter.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Why Change Parties.

There are thousands of people who fully realize that there is something wrong with our governmental affairs, but they will not take time to investgate. They have been taught from their infancy that a man who would quit a political party is a traitor, especially if it is the speakers party.

Coming up with this training it is no wonder that we find people worshiping party name when it has long since lost all principle. It is no wonder that we find it hard for the people to assert their manhood and leave a disgraced and debauched party, when they must meet so much ridicule and derision when they break the chains.

It takes a brave heart to face the music, but if relief is to be gained the change must be made. It does not mean a change of principle with the voter, but a change of routes. He has simply made a discovery, that the road on which he has been traveling does not lead to the promised land. It becomes his moral duty to change routes. Instead of being a disgrace it is the part of wisdom and is to be commended by all true men and patriots.

We find ourself fighting with all our power for the Populist party and the success of its principles. We are doing this because we believe that it is the best thing in sight. It is the only route now open that promises anything for humanity. If you can show us some other way that would reach the goal quicker and bring about greater results we would feel constrained to change political parties again. We only belong to a party for the purpose of carrying out the great principles of humanity contained in the second declaration of independence, the Omaha platform, and the party that will battle for these and every true people, if it should become corrupt or dominated by rings, then we would no longer claim allegiance to it, but would look to the plain common people to form a new political organization which would execute their will.

We conceive it to be the duty of every man to change his political party when it fails to serve the people—when it serves plutocracy instead. It is no mark of disgrace, but of wisdom. It is a plain duty that the citizen owes his family.

Therefore, we say to the thousands of democrats all over the land that it is our duty to change our party. It is due your country and your family that you quit the party that has trampled your interests under foot and scorned your appeals for justice. There is no honorable course left you but to repudiate the party that has repudiated its pledges and the world will honor you for asserting your manhood.

The great party of the common people stands with open arms to receive every honest American citizen who feels disgusted with the rule of plutocracy.

Come into her fold and help us fight the battle of humanity, the last great battle for self government and independence. Help us to re-establish the republic of our fathers and rebuild again the liberty gained through the revolution.—Living Issues.

Judge Hines' Opening Speech.

We have only space for a portion of Judge Hines' first campaign speech delivered at Stone Mountain on the 9th inst, which is as follows:

Many a man sticks to the democratic organization because he does not understand the game that is being played upon the people, and from sheer pride. Why do we favor the abolition of the National banks? In the first place, because the notes of these banks are based on United States bonds. The public debt is being gradually paid off, or was until the present administration got into control, and the bonds, which are the basis of these notes, will be paid off. As this is done, the currency will be contracted, and the people will be more and more oppressed. Every time you contract the currency, you distress the masses, and bring wreck and ruin in the wake of contraction.

But this is not all. The National bank law prohibits the loan of money on land as security. So that land, which ought to be the best security in the world, is outlawed in the money markets of the world. This is an unjust discrimination against the farmers and land-owners. We condemn these banks as their charters outlaw land as a basis of credit.

The right to stamp, coin and issue money is a sovereign function of government, and ought not to be delegated to banks. This power ought not to be farmed out to individuals or banks any more than the right to levy and collect taxes. This power ought to be retained and exercised by the national government.

By a violation of this principle and a partial surrender of this right, this great government presents a lamentable and pitiable spectacle today. It has been publicly proclaimed and confessed, that the banks of New York have the government by the leg, and that it cannot get loose. This is a humiliating confession.

What we need in this supreme hour of the nation's peril, is a president who is big enough, brave enough and patriotic enough, to choke the banks from the government.

We have the remedy, if we only had such a president to apply it. If you would give them a dose of silver, they would go into fits and spasms, and would, of their own free will, let loose the leg of the government.

What we ask for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the rate of 16 to 1.

What the democrats now believe—that is the point, it is difficult to discover. We know what they believed in Jefferson's time, in Andrew Jackson's time, in 1878, and in 1892, and in fact from the origin of the party to the reign of President Cleveland.

But whatever is the present creed of the democrats upon this question, we demand free coinage of silver.

Once before in this country, there was a memorable and heroic struggle between the money power and the people. It occurred when the Hon. Andrew Jackson was president. In that contest the president was with the people.

In this contest the President is with the money power. In that struggle the people won with the assistance of the President. In this struggle, the people will win, in spite of the President, God speed the day!

That memorable contest ended in the complete divorcement of the banks from the government. It was a total divorce, and the disabilities of the defendant were not removed. It was a divorce, a vienculo matrimonii.

This contest will end the same happy way.

That remarkable contest ended in the coinage act 1836 which provided for the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver. Whoever had silver bullion could take it to the mints of the United States and have it coined into silver dollars.

This democratic doctrine crystalized into law, and it remained on the statute books until the democrats went out of power in 1860, through the war, and until it was demonetized in 1873 by the republican party.

This contest will endure another statute for the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

But they tell us that a silver dollar is a dishonest dollar, that the bullion in a silver dollar is worth less than a dollar and that is not right to make into a dollar something that is worth less than a dollar. This is the argument of the goldbugs and the vociferous supporters of the administration.

The fallacy of this specious plea for the single gold standard is so transparent, that a blind man can see through it. The arguments is so loose and rotten that you can drive a four-horse wagon through it.

Take a five dollar national bank note or a five dollar bill in greenback, or a state bank note. They are well made of paper. The paper in either one of them is worth much less than five dollars. The paper can probably be bought for less than a cent. Now, what gives to the five dollar paper bill made out of paper worthless than one cent, the value of five dollars? It is the stamp of the government declaring it money.

The bullion in a silver dollar is not worth less than a dollar; but just as soon as the government coins it into a dollar, stamps the eagle on one side and the goddess of liberty on the other, and prints the motto. "In God we trust," which you find on your silver dollars, this amount of silver bullion, thus coined, stamped, mottoed and decorated, becomes intrinsically worth a dollar.

But what has reduced the price of silver bullion in the markets of the world? The gold bugs tell us that over production has caused the decline. Not one word of it, my countrymen. When the price of cotton falls below the cost of production, we hear the same cry. When wheat tumbles and the farmers of the west are bankrupted, it is overproduction. Over-production covers a multitude of sins, and a great many schemes of plunder.

When silver was demonetized in 1873, the bullion in a silver dollar was worth more than a gold dollar. If silver was demonetized today, the bullion in a silver dollar would be worth a dollar.

Suppose gold was demonetized; would not the price of gold bullion fall? It would most certainly.

Now, what gives to any money its value? Primarily, the stamp of the government, which declares it money, and makes it a legal tender in payment of private and public debts.

So the value of money depends, to some extent, upon the law of supply and demand. If there is much money and no demand, money will be cheap. It is like the case where there are many horses and no buyers, horses will be cheap. If there are few horses and no buyers, horses will be cheap.

Now, what has caused the decline in the price of silver bullion is, that when silver was demonetized in 1873, the demand was largely destroyed. When silver was dethroned from its high place as a money metal, and became a commodity in the marts of trade, the demand for it was decreased, and its price declined.

What was the effect on gold? The demand for gold has been immensely increased, and its price rose. Now to compare the price of gold, which is on the high plane of a money metal with the price of silver, which is on the low plane of a commodity, if unjust. Restore silver bullion to its place as a money metal, and you will see its price rise to the level of gold.

But if the present silver dollar is a dishonest silver dollar, why did not the democrats put more bullion in the dollar and thus make it worth a gold dollar? I will tell you why. They had to submit Wall street and President Cleveland is carrying out the behests of Wall street.

If we free and unlimited coinage at the ratio of 16 of silver to 1 of gold would give us too much silver, the democrats could have given us a limited amount of silver. A half loaf is better than no loaf at all. Limited silver is better than no silver at all.

But they tell us the United States cannot maintain a currency of gold and silver by itself. This statement ought to humiliate every American. Great and proud America, whose territory stretches from shore to shore, and from arctic to the tropics, can't legislate and regulate its currency without the help of European countries.

But it cannot do it alone in maintaining a silver currency. There is Mexico, which is a silver nation. The great center of the Central American states. All the South American countries are silver countries. Besides Asia has a silver currency. The silver countries contain two-thirds of the globe, if we count the United States.

Asia, the United States, Mexico, the Central American States and South America, can maintain a silver currency with hands down. They can drive European plutocracy to the wall. The United States can do this by itself, and maintain its own currency single-handed and alone. It need not ask favors from others.

But our democratic brethren tell us that they are in favor of silver, but that it must be had by international agreement, or other safe-guard of legislation. Here is another delusion and a snare. Silver by international agreement! You might as well talk about a shower of silver from the stars. What nation do they expect to join in this agreement? England, of course. They may tell you Germany and France. They are the same all the nations of the earth, but England must join in the agreement. Whenever you hear any politician talk about silver by international agreement, you may put him down as against silver. He is either a fool or a knave trying to deceive you!

Recently a proposition was submitted to the British Parliament, looking to an international agreement in the coinage of silver; and it was voted down without debate or division. You will have a sweet time getting silver by international agreement. We will get such an agreement when the government is a pure ballot. If that becomes corrupt, if votes can be purchased by whiskey, money, or other things of value, then we might as well bid farewell to republican government.

I declare to you today that I do not want the office if the title is tainted by election fraud. Our party stands for purity in elections. Let no populist disregard this fundamental tenet.

We call upon all democrats to come to the rescue in this matter. The purity of the ballot ought to be above all parties.

Whatever else a party advocates it ought to advocate this.

Will our opponents join us in the demand? We want them to answer through their leaders.

We expect to arouse the public conscience upon this subject, and we shall demand an honest ballot and a fair count.

He who sells his ballot commits a crime. He who buys a ballot, likewise commits a crime against good government and the interest of society. Let us make ballot box stuffing and bribery in elections in this state odious and infamous.

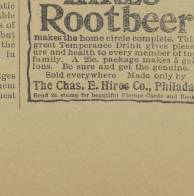

On these eternal principles of right and justice, we appeal to the freemen of this state with hope and confidence.

It is a contest in the interest of the people. It is a fight for their welfare. It must challenge the attention and secure the support of all patriots everywhere.

The mining strikers of Alabama held a meeting this week and decided to vote the populist ticket.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the 32nd Senatorial District of Georgia, Composed of White, Lumpkin and Dawson.

Fellow Citizens:—

I take this method of announcing to you my candidacy for the Senate in the ensuing election which occurs on the 3d day of October next.

It is known to you that I am a Democrat, and still believe it better to try and correct whatever evils may exist inside the party, rather than abandon it and make war upon both the evil and the good.

Some questions of vital importance to the State at large are to come before the next General Assembly. Among those I consider the most important of all others, is the proper disposition of the Penitentiary convicts of the State. For nearly twenty years these convicts have been under the control and management of private individuals and corporations who have worked and used them in the mines, brick yards, farms, camps and fields—thus bringing them in direct competition with honest, free labor. This ought not to be. The State is able to care for, work and control her convicts; and should not delegate her authority to individuals or corporations. I favor such legislation as will involve the State in the least expense—remove the objection of competitative labor and insure to the convict humane treatment.

I believe the State can work these convicts with profit to itself and without injury to any of its citizens.

I believe the State should foster, with parental care, her common school system; and go on perfecting that system, just begun, that will ultimately bring thorough practical education to the door of every humblest citizen within her borders.

To the unfortunates, such as the insane, the deaf and dumb, the blind and the old and impoverished citizens of the State, I believe we should give these the largest substantial sympathy and support needful for their comfort.

This is your country, and mine; and I will consent for no man, without challenge, whether he be Democrat, Populist or Republican, to say that he loves it more than I.

These are some of the questions for discussion and legislation. Others may and will arise. I hope to reach many of you before the election and talk freely and fully with you upon all matters pertaining to the welfare and prosperity of our State. If I am to be honored with your kindly support my opponent and I discuss the issues with him.

If honored and trusted by your suffrages, I pledge you an honest, faithful and industrious effort to represent you to the best of my ability and promise that my votes shall be, in my humble judgment, cast "for the best interest of Georgia."

I am your obedient Servant and Fellow Citizen. M. G. Boyd.

Opens the Way for Malaria

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes Pure Blood and Cures Malaria.

It is with pleasure that we call attention to the testimonial of Mr. A. M. Beck, who is well known in Florida, and to the travelling public, having for years been a railroad passenger conductor and later, ticket agent at Jacksonville. "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Some three or four years ago I wrote to you in reference to the good my boy had derived from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now allow me to say that the same boy and his mother have

and Hood's Sarsaparilla has again been used with satisfactory results. I do not believe you can find a more better looking child at his age, eight years, than our boy. For this picture of health his mother and also myself attribute it to the use of that most valuable remedy, Hood's Sarsaparilla. His trouble before taking the medicine was an affliction with boils, and a general breaking out all over his body. Of course from such suffering the child became weak and a general prostration of the system was a natural result. We again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla with wonderful success. The word gratitude but poorly expresses our feelings toward Hood's Sarsaparilla." A. M. Beck, Belmore, Florida. Be sure to get Hood's.

If you want to enjoy excellent health, good water and pure mountain breezes this summer, come to Dahlonega.

A fellow said Sunday that Virge Moose was not the only ugly man in Dahlonega that had shaved his moustache off.

Both of the public wells were thoroughly cleaned out last week, and you can now get all the fresh, clean water you desire.

A shot was taken from the foot of A. W. Meaders Saturday by Dr. Howard, which had been in it ever since he was wounded some nine years ago.

Hereafter the SIGNAL will be delivered to town subscribers early Friday morning. The country mail will be put in the post office at 6 o'clock, a. m., same day.

Quite a number of young ladies and gentlemen visited Porter Springs last Saturday. They enjoyed a basket dinner, trip on the mountain and got a wetting.

Bill Satterfield was in town Saturday discussing the gubernatorial and other races, occasionally putting in a word for himself for Sheriff. Bill says he is virtually in the field and will warm up things by and by.

Docia Beck, who has been confined in jail for some weeks charged with assault and battery, was released Tuesday. She was sick and unable to make bond and it was decided that this was the proper course to pursue.

W. H. Price, Jr., was up last week delivering a large quantity of electric oil which he had sold a few days previous. Some of our citizens have since used some of the oil and have expressed themselves as well pleased with it.

Cheering news comes in from Yahoola district this week. They are joining the reform movement every day up that way, and if it continues like it has within a few days, no one will be left to hold the democratic primary election when the time arrives.

The editor of the Nugget used the word falsehood so often last week in an article denying the closing of the doors by the democrats at their recent meeting until his mouth is twisted up as if going to blow a trumpet. Sit down on a piece of ice, brother Mac, and keep cool.

The editor armed himself with a brush Tuesday morning and undertook to whip out an army of potato bugs that had appeared in his garden. He fought, puffed and blowed for some time, killing many and succeeded in running the rest of the enemy out of the garden, but not until they had got the best of his potato tops.

General raider Ware of Gainesville, and Deputy Collector Will Haraldson, of Jackson county, visited Dahlonega latter part of last week. They went away without molesting any of the moonshiners. Deputy Marshals Harbison and Helton had been keeping up with the business in this department and left nothing undone.

See This!

I will sell you for cash, 25 lbs. good flour for 55 cts.; meat 9 cts.; pure leaf lard 11½ cts; fine granulated sugar 16 lbs. for $1; fancy candy 20 cts. per lb. Other goods will be sold accordingly as cheap, but for cash only.

Miss Nancy Evans, residing near town, killed a large rattle snake Tuesday while hoeing corn.

Capt. Asbury and J. W. H. Underwood, of White county, were in Dahlonega a few hours Tuesday on a business trip.

Some of Mr. W. J. Burt's neighbors inform us this week that this gentleman has an idea of making the race for the legislature.

Down at the Lockhart mine one day last week there were 17 voters, and 16 out of that number expressed themselves for Judge Hines.

Tom Johnson, who is working on Mr. Stanley's property near town, picked up a three pennyweight nugget of gold off of an old gravel pile one day this week.

EULA JEFFERSON, Sec'y.

Dahlonega will soon have another daily mail to Gainesville via. Auraria, to take effect the 13th of August. Bids will be received until the 25th inst. Blanks can be had at the Dahlonega post office.

The many friends of Mr. John A. Woody will regret to learn that he died at his home in Union county last Saturday. His remains were interred in the cemetery at Zion Church Sunday in the presence of a large number of people.

The Professor in the business department of the college, tendered his resignation last week and took his departure. His place will be filled in due time. Prof. Marnyx was a competent teacher and gave perfect satisfaction.

Mat Woods is not likely to leave his wagon in the creek any more soon. The tire became loose and he put it in the creek to sock and went off Sunday on a visit. While absent a heavy rain came and the next he saw of his wagon was half mile down the stream lodged against some bushes.

Mr. Jap Williams, of Gaddistown, dropped in to see us last week. He is now engaged in sawing poplar lumber and hauling it to Blue Ridge, a distant of twenty miles, filling an order of many thousand feet for a gentleman who expects to ship it to different places, to be made into furniture.

In justice to Col. Price, who was secretary of the recent democratic executive committee meeting, we will say that it was not his fault of us not receiving the proceedings time enough to be published. He told us that he handed them out the same day of the meeting with special instructions for them to be furnished us as soon as they could be put in type at the other office. You can see into it now.

Dock Livingston and Hyden, who went from this county to Honduras some months ago, narrowly escaped being executed in that country not long since. It seems that a fight had occurred between some Americans and natives in which the latter were successful in whipping the fight. Afterwards the natives believing that our two Lumpkin county boys had something to do with the difficulty, arrested them and carried them off to kill them. They proved their innocense however, and their lives were spared.

A GRAND FEATURE

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

Arthur Christy, of Folkston, is up on a visit.

Please boil your communications down and make them short as possible.

About twenty of our citizens, both male and female, went to the mountains on a pleasure trip this week.

The communication of A. W. Smith has been crowded out up to the present, but will appear soon.

By an oversight we failed to mention the death of Thias Coldwell, which occurred in Yahoola the last day of May.

Rev. C. M. Ledbetter had a mess of roasting ears Tuesday of last week, which is the earliest we have heard of this season.

It is reported that John Conner, who worked at the jeweler business in Dahlonega some months ago, got into a dispute with a man about a watch some weeks ago and was killed.

Miss Lilly Gurley and Miss Mattie Gurley took their departure last week. Miss Lilly will teach school in Union county, and Miss Mattie will teach in Cherokee.

The potato bugs have made their appearance in Dahlonega. They will strip a patch of every leaf and then move on to another. They are small but their appetite is excellent and it takes a good deal to do them.

During the storm last Sabbath out at Mr. John McGees, a couple of miles from town, a cider press and a spinning wheel were blown from the porch and broken considerably. An apple tree was carried over the house by the strong wind, but no one was injured.

Uncle Rice Arrendale, of Auraria, was in Dahlonega Saturday discussing politics. He is still on the people's party track warmer than ever, and states that the old democratic tree is loosing its limbs one by one, and thinks by fall the last one will be gone and nothing but the stump will be left, which will eventually decay and pass out of existance. Uncle Rice is a man that believes in laying aside personal friendship and vote for a man of his party, be it either county or national office.

MR. EDITOR:—

I notice a little squib in last week's Nugget which I suppose was intended for me, written by that sleepy, dirt eating looking, filth slinger called the editor of that paper and signed by Robt. Howell. Every citizen of Dahlonega understands the situation and fully realizes why it appeared. All I have got to say at present, is if Mr. Howell desires to sever his connection with a life-long friend and be used as a cat's paw by a thing which was imported here to button hole and boot lick for certain parties, it is all right.

W. B. TOWNSEND.

A frightful coincidence occurred at Col. Price's residence one night last week. Some one entered the house and went to Mrs. West's room and laid their hands gently upon her while she was in sleep. She awoke and immediately covered her head with the bed clothing, being afraid to hollow for fear of being killed, and the party disappeared, going up stairs, but returned in a few moments, performing the same act as before. Mrs. West began to scream which awoke the family, and Col. Price and his wife proceeded to the foot of the stairway thinking it was above, where they met W. P. Price, Jr., who informed them that the hollowing was in Mrs. West's room. They hastened to the room and found Mrs. West almost frightened to death. No one could be found in the house, but the front door and the gate were both open, supposed to have been left so by the one causing the fright, in order to make good their escape when it became necessary.

Prof. Gilliard has gone to see his ma at Griffin, Ga.

Maj. Dashiel and lady are off on a visit to Cave Springs, Ga.

Mary Anderson, colored, died a few miles from Kahlonega Wednesday evening.

Mr. John Weaver set a steel trap for a musk rat the other day and caught a large white crain and now has it in a box for inspection.

Mr. Pitner, one of the recent graduates of the N. G. A. College, has gone to Bellton to take charge of a school.

The all day services at the Dahlonega camp ground last Sunday were largely attended and the preaching good.

Mr. Reese Hightower, of Atlanta never fails to appear in Dahlonega at the winding up of the commencement so as to take a hand in the ball.

An interesting communication will be found on the first page from J. P. Parker, who is now out in the Indian Territory eating buscuits made from 25 cents per bushel wheat.

We stated last week that Mr. Al. Anderson and Mr. John Marr expected to run for tax receiver. We have since learned that it is for collector instead of receiver.

Any one desiring Tom Watson's weekly paper four months for 25 cents, can send or bring the money to this office and we will procure it for them. The Living Issues can be had upon the same terms.

The S. E. corner of the college tower was struck by lightning during the storm Sunday, tearing off a few plank, but the damage is light. Lightning rods will be put up at an early day so as to protect the building.

Ben Ravan and Francis Seabolt, of Chestatee district, were both arraigned before Com. Baker last week charged with violating the Internal Revenue law, but as there were not evidence sufficient to convict they were discharged.

Mrs. Richard Whelchel, and her daughter Miss Nunnie, and John, who have been here on a visit for some days, returned to Anniston, Ala., last Tuesday. Miss Sallie Whelchel, who accompanied them here, will remain in Dahlonega for a month or so before she returns home.

Such men as Col. Price, Wm. Early, Martin L. Jones, Caleb Seabolt and others are old enough to manage their own affairs without being dictated to by any young sprouts that are democrats for the season, and only vote that ticket when it suits their pleasure and convenience.

MR. NESBITT'S LETTER.

His Monthly Talk to the Farmers of the State of Georgia.

THE WATERMELON GROWTH

It Is a Paying Crop to the Farmers of the State—The March Freeze—Cotton Damaged Badly—Other Farming News.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
ATLANTA, June 1, 1894.

THE MARCH FREEZE.

Throughout the state the disastrous effect of the March freeze was felt, in some localities necessitating the entire replanting of cotton, and, in the more northern portions, even the young corn, which was just coming up or had commenced to grow off, had to be plowed up and planted over again. But by the middle of May these crops had almost recovered from the temporary backset.

THE FRUIT CROP,

however, peaches, pears, and to some extent apples and small fruits, not excepting the hardy blackberries, had suffered too, severely. In almost every section the peaches and pears were entirely cut off, and, in some instances, the trees also were injured beyond recovery. One pre-eminent misfortune of this kind is the destruction of a beautiful spring orchard on Kennesaw mountain. The trees were unusually handsome and healthy, and would have come into full bearing next year. I am told that not one was spared. The fact that a freeze like this comes perhaps about once in 20 or 30 years, contains little comfort for the loser. Its rarity can only encourage those who contemplate setting out young orchards, and whose hopes are in the future.

In one or two favored sections the injury to the orchards was not material, but the fact cannot be disputed that fruit of all kinds will be at a premium. In filling this blathus the comes prominently forward. The early plantings were of course injured more or less, but the replant is making steady progress, and, though the weather has continued most unfavorable, the season to melon growers bids fair to be an unusually profitable one.

While crops generally were still suffering from the freeze the came upon us, and it is disheartening to again have to chronicle the severe injury sustained by the young plants scarcely yet recovered from the previous disaster. In northern Georgia, more especially, the heavy winds and snow-storms connected with the blizzard wrought and havoc with tender vegetation. The corn, though much whipped and twisted by the severity of the wind, can withstand a degree of cold, before which the delicate young cotton must succumb, and the corn fields are now taking on a vigorous growth, but the plants in the devastated cotton fields look almost as if they would never hold up their heads again. Where the crop had been brought to a "stand" the injury was of course proportionally greater. In some cases those plants which were able to resist the first effects of the trying weather, finally died from the secondary "sore shins" and the depredations of hen, always worse, when the mornings and evenings are chilly. Where the crop has been tided over the critical period the yield may yet reach a fair average.

In cases where the first injury, combined with the chilly days and parching winds of the last of May, have succeeded in killing out the "stand," it is now too late to remedy the evil. Cotton once well started, will resist a degree of back treatment, which corn, in its short period of development, will resent, but the cotton, in order to develop successfully, must be in good growing condition by the first of June. As stated last month, if, as a rule, the first of June finds the farmer with good stands and clean fields, he can hopefully enter on the work of that busy month. But this is an exceptional year. Though the farmer may have prosecuted his work with judgment and well directed energy, he may have the misfortune to witness the destruction of his best laid plans, and this by agencies entirely beyond his control. I fear that in some localities the cotton has been too badly damaged to recover. Although it is now too late to replant, let us not resign ourselves to supine regret. We cannot afford to plow up the plants that remain if even half a stand is left. The cultivation must go on, and in order that the may be made to pay something for the work which they, in common with the cotton, must endure, it would be well to drop a few Spanish ground peas or whippoorwill peas in the long gaps. The mistake so often made in planting peas with another crop is that the variety chosen is of too luxuriant growth, and finally overruns and chokes out the less vigorous crop. This is true of the long running kinds, but if the whippoorwill, whose habit is to bunch rather than spread out, is used, we obviate this difficulty.

Ground peas, vines and nuts, pulled up and cured together, make splendid forage, and those who have tried it know the value of pea vine hay. In the latter crop we also store up nitrogen in the soil for future use, and thus receive a double benefit, for we can appropriate all that we can cut, and still the roots and stems remain to perform their important office as nitrogen gatherers.

Unfortunately there are cases where the out, or there are only a few plants left standing and these separated by long blank intervals. If the farmer does not wish to plant the prepared land in peas or ground peas, it is not yet too late to plant it in corn. I have known a full crop to be made in this way where the seasons proved suitable. If the cotton rows are four feet check the corn rows across five or six feet, giving greater or less distance, according to the middle of rows and strength of land. By this method we have the option of plowing the crop both ways, which hastens the cultivation and reduces the hoe work.

In looking over the records for 1893 I am reminded that the spring was most unfavorable, and yet the average crop per acre, except in northern Georgia, proved exceptionally good. Let us take courage from our past experience, and though the present outlook is most disheartening, let us steadily go forward with the work which crowds upon us in this busy month.

The fact that the crops are unusually backward and unpromising points to even greater necessity for careful work and rapid work. Each time that the soil is stirred the little plants are encouraged by fresh supplies of moisture, by warmth, and by and we should neglect no means of giving these in as full measure as possible.

THE CULTIVATION OF THE CORN AND COTTON.

On a large area in the state the corn crop will be laid by a week before the first of July. At the last working, which, though shallow, should be thorough, sow peas or fodder beans in the center furrow. In the very careful experiments at our experiment station, as to the best method of utilizing the vines, the conclusion is, that more is gained by cutting and curing for hay that by gathering the peas or turning under the crop. The vines being thus usually small requires most careful work. The warm days of June will, we hope, give us fine hay harvests. This is essentially a sun crop and it is astonishing to witness its powers of recuperation under the influence of heat and light.

THE HARVESTING OF THE GRAIN AND CLOVER

Comes at a very inconvenient time for a cotton farm. If possible the work should be done with the farm hands, and in the present backward condition of other crops, this is comparatively an easy undertaking. To avoid unnecessary waste in harvesting the clover, do not allow it to remain exposed too long to the weather, otherwise the loss in both blooms and leaves is considerable. After cutting, leave for a few hours, until thoroughly wilted, then gather into heaps, and as soon as cured, haul to shelter.

The grain intended for feeding can be cut earlier than that intended for seed or to be ground into flour. As soon as the grain is of sow peas broadcast, a bushel to the acre, using about 200 pounds of superphosphate. If the land is in good condition, or if the work is done immediately after a rain, the cut away harrow furnishes an excellent and rapid means of plowing them in. If the land is hard or the season dry it becomes necessary to use the ordinary turn plows, scooter or shovel.

SOWING OF MILLET SORGHUM

and other forage crops can still go on, always remembering that, the later the sowing the richer the land should be.

POTATOES

also can be planted all through June with great success. Indeed, some experiments in planting Irish potato vines put out in June make as many potatoes, which are smoother and require less work than the earlier plantings. If the slips are ready and the land well broken, a rain is not at all necessary. If water is accessible put plenty in the hole, put in the slip and cover with dry dirt. In nine cases out of 10 they succeed as well, and sometimes better, than if planted after a heavy rain.

The following from the March number of the Southern Cultivator was read before the farmers' club, crowded out of last month's "Talk." The term "fodder," as used in the station report here, means the stalk, leaves and shucks all cured together.

HARVESTING THE CORN CROP—PULLING FODDER.

It seems rather premature to refer to this question at present, but it is of as much importance to the farmer to save the stalks and fodder, as to save the corn, and to introduce it here to call attention to the tremendous waste in the usual method of pulling the blades and leaving the standing stalks, which, when preparations for another crop begin, are either piled and burned—a dead loss—or cut and plowed under, a method of questionable utility and little present benefit. In Virginia it has been proven by actual experiment, time in this one line, the farmers of that state waste every year more money than would pay their state taxation.

As we stated before, corn is a costly crop, and every part of the plant has drawn tribute from our time and labor and money. Why should we retain only a part and throw away and treat as of equal value with the corn, that which is of equal nutritive value, and that the whole is of more value than the ears grown upon it, is an astonishing revelation to the generality of farmers, but such is the fact, which has been established, not only by laboratory experiment, but by actual tests with stock in feeding and we feel bound to call attention to it. The following is a summary of results published by the Maryland station after careful tests:

1. All parts of the corn plant contain valuable food materials, the dry matter having nearly the same composition.

2. The corn stubble and husks contain 60 per cent of the total digestible matter produced by the plant, and the blades only 11 per cent of the total digestible matter.

3. Corn husks or shucks contain 72 per cent of digestible matter.

4. Corn stubble or butts contain 66.5 per cent of digestible matter.

5. Corn blades or leaves contain 64.2 per cent of digestible matter.

6. Topped (cut for fodder and cover) contains 55 per cent of digestible matter.

7. There is more digestible matter contained in the corn fodder from one acre than in the corn ears from one acre.

8. The corn fodder, or stover, from one acre yields as much digestible matter as two tons of timothy hay.

9. There is enough digestible matter produced by the corn fodder grown in the southern states to winter all the live stock existing in those states, if it was properly preserved and prepared in a palatable form.

10. By cutting and crushing the corn-

MEMORIES OF DAHLONEGA.

In Early Days and Surroundings.

BY W. R. CHISSON.

All mining north of Chestatee river then going on was intrusion. When the troops were sent here to suppress the intrusion, about three companies, I think, were stationed about one mile this side of Nuchasville four miles south of where Dahlonega is now situated. The commanding officer who I think was a major, sent the soldiers out in squads of about twelve men, commanded by a petty officer. At first the soldiers would make their circuit and return to the station at nights. This was very clever of the troops. The miners changed the mode of work from day to night. The troops soon changed their program. They would take three days rations and camp where night overtook them. Then the boys began to have some fun. They would place sentinels all around them. The boys had to form a kind of a cooperation—the sentinels come in on equal share. The sentinels had the worst part of the job. The soldiers I do not think wanted to arrest any of the boys but when they came upon them they had to do so. It went on for awhile until the soldiers became much perplexed. On one occasion Bob Ralston, knowing of a long deep pit filled with mud and water some five or six feet deep, made friendship with the officer of a squad of soldiers, telling the officer that he would pilot him to a crowd of swindlers that night. It was very dark, and just before they reached the pit, Bob showed the dim lights ahead and the sound of the boys at work. A hurried charge had to be made in order to round them up. The word was given and every man plunged heels over head into the loblolly. Bob hooped at the top of his voice, "halt, or I will shoot you!" Turning to the struggling soldiers said, "They have set this trap for us sure enough." Bob had dodged round and stoon on dry ground.

Another night a squad of soldiers were thrown head foremost into a deep gulley by a grape vine being stretched across a foot above the ground. Bob allowed as much loblolly was left in the gulley as was in the pit. The soldiers by this time got their dander up, making ugly threats, and the boys also looked a little ugly. Soon afterwards a squad came up to quite a crowd of the ugly boys who were having some fun playing cards and drinking whiskey. A corporal, who was a miserable drunkard, happened to be in command. The boys soon prevailed on him to take a drink, and he did drink copiously and was soon down drunk. The other soldiers did likewise and they were soon all dead drunk. The funny boys got the blackest pine knot soot that could be procured, put it into a pot of grease and boiled until it was thoroughly mixed, and then while the salve was warm gave the corporal and his escort a genteel saturation, rubbing it well into the face, hands and wherever they could get to the skin. About the break of day the next morning the corporal raised up and looked around for his men but did not see them, and some of the boys being left as sentinels while the main body dug gold that night, old the corporal when the enquired for his men, that they lay all around him, but he failed to recognise his men and said, "Yes, here lies a set of the blackest negroes that I ever beheld." Bob Ralston thought that was square business, and pointing his finger to the corporal, who was washing and scrubbing, said, "Corporal, take a sharp knife and skin yourself. You can't wash that bedeviled stuff out in three months."

Lumpkin county was organized in 1833, in the early part of the year, about 62 years ago. The Georgia Cracker puts it 58 years ago, but it is mistaken in that as well as many other things which I have noticed written under the leading pioneers of Lumpkin. I have been in the territory of Lumpkin since 1826—am now 76 years of age. I cannot think that the California craze caused as much trouble in Lumpkin as my Gainesville friend seems to think, but I do know that the civil war was the cause of incalculable suffering, such as we had not known before, neither have we since.

Ruth Hampton, generally known as Aunt Ruth, aged 52 years, left Lumpkin for California early in the spring of 1852, and first of September following, her and husband arrived at Gardon Valley, Cal., with wagon and team, four fine young oxens, and a man named McConnell and myself, bought the team of her and her husband.

Aunt Ruth Hampton was the oldest woman that went from Lumpkin to California in those days. Some twelve or fifteen men went from Lumpkin to California in 1849, and others in 1850, and still more in 1851, and many in 1852, which was called the great rush to California.

The first discovery of gold in California was in the summer of 1848, by a man named Wm. Marshall, at Union Town on the South fork of the American river, in Gen Sutters mill race.

There has been two legal hangings in Lumpkin county and many persons convicted of voluntary homecide which involved long imprisonment.

Twenty-seven persons have been killed in Lumpkin county, seven of them by accident while working in the mines and three executed by military authority during the war. If any more I have forgotten.

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know how many professors of religion are enrolled on the church books in Lumpkin county. By a careful examination of the statistics of 1893, we find Baptist 1310, Methodist 647, Presbyterian about 15, whites only. I could not get the number of blacks, though there are several hundred colored Baptists and Methodists in the county. The above is about as correct as can be obtained.

In the early thirties there was a man here in the mines by the name of Gregory, who was seven feet and ten inches high. He would bet on eating four pounds of bread, two pounds of meat, drink ten cups of coffee and a pint of whiskey in one hour, and he invarably won the bet. On one bet his whiskey set behind him and Bob Ralston would fill up as he drank down Gregory saw him and drew back and slapped him over. "I will show you how to steal my whiskey." Perhaps it was a misunderstanding.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 29, 1894.

General Evans' own home county only gave him 25 majority.

The Texas populists nominated F. L. Nugent for Governor on the 21st inst.

The prohibitionists of Tennessee have declared themselves for the people's party.

The Woodbury Messenger, of Meriwether county, has hoisted the people's party banner.

If our currency is so "honest" how is it that the dishonest men have got the most of it?

Give a fool long enough rope and he will hang himself. That is what the democrats have done.

Hon. J. N. Twitty is booked to address the people at Jasper, July 17th, Ellijay, July 18, Morganton July 19th.

Several of the dailies have long since quit giving the election returns from the different counties. The democratic vote was too small to be exposed.

Thirty-eight democratic and republican papers have suspended in Kansas alone. Five new reform papers have been born in Georgia within eight weeks.

The colored people's party of Jackson county had a mass meeting at Jefferson last week and thoroughly organized, appointed executive committees and are now ready for business.

Rev. W. J. White, D. D., editor of the Georgia Baptist, one of the oldest negro papers in the country, announces that "As things now look in Georgia we favor the people's party and expect to vote the ticket as a private citizen."

Why not issue greenbacks every three months to the amount of the pension allowance? It would add that amount to the volume of currency, and the boys would as soon have their own money now as in the sixties.—Record, Oakland City, Ind.

President Carnot of France was assassinated in Lyons, France on the 24th inst while on his way to the Grand theater, by an Italian who stepped up to the carriage and stabbed him to the heart. The murderer was arrested and the greatest excitement prevails.

The Adjutant General of Tansey, of the Colorado State National Guard, was called from his room the other night by masked men and tarred and feathered. Governor Waite has offered $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of any of the parties interested.

The New York World of last week succeeded in getting hold of the record of absentees kept by the Sergeant-at-Arms of Congress for the first 18 days of June which shows that the number of days of absentees of members for that length of time was 153, besides 33 members that were marked indefinitely.

At Arlington precinct Early county, during the recent primary, those that voted subscribed to the following oath: "You do swear that you are a democrat, and that you will support either Atkinson or Evans, if nominated, and that you will not vote for Hines." Several democrats would not swallow it and joined the people's party.

A circular is being distributed in Hall and Dawson counties announcing that Judge J. G. Hines and other populist speakers will address the citizens at Rock Bottom Ford on the Chestatee river on the 4th of July. Judge Hines speaks at Macon on that day. This is only a democratic trick to get the people out in order to hear some of their expert orators.

A few nights ago at Columbus, a man by the name of Jackson jumped on a populist speaker who had just finished his address and cut his face fearfully with a knife. The police were soon upon the scene and arrested Jackson, carried him to the foot of the steps of the hall and turned him loose. Suppose he had have been a populist, where would have been placed? Sons of toil, keep your mouths closed and don't step on the grass.

Some one remarked the other day that the people's party was composed of broken down politicians who were wanting office. If you will cast your eye around you will see that there are ten democrats to one people's party seeking an office. The other day when railroad commissioner Powers died in Macon a lot of hungry office seekers did not wait until the poor man got cold before they made application to the Governor or his position.

Must be Represented.

The 25th of July at Gainesville is the time and place set apart by the Executive committee of the 9th district to nominate a standard bearer of the people's party to represent us in the next congress.

Lumpkin county must be represented and the chairman of the county will have to call a meeting in due time for this purpose.

Ha, Ha. How Thin.

A certain lawyer of Dahlonega while talking to a Baptist the other day, remarked that Judge Hines was a nice man but favored denominational appropriations. Of course this is only trick to endeavor to keep some of the Baptists from voting for the next Governor of Georgia. Every Baptist happens to know that this is unconstitutional even if it was true. It will take something stronger than this to keep Lumpkin county from rolling up a handsome majority for the Judge.

Democratic-Republican-Convention.

Last week the chief justice or supreme dictator of the democratic party of Lumpkin county stated that either a republican or third party that did not want to vote for Judge Hines could take a hand in the so called democratic primaries of the county. The voters must bear in mind that there are other men to be voted for besides Judge Hines. State house officers and a democratic candidate for congress are to be selected that day, and he who votes in this election is honor bond to support all of those that are nominated.

General Evans Withdraws.

General Evans has published his card of withdrawal from the race for Governor and Mr. Atkinson is now the only candidate in the field on the democratic side.

It is very unfortunate for the democratic party that it has resulted in this way, for they, the democrats, have said that Mr. Atkinson is full of political corruption and not fit to occupy the Gubernatorial chair, and many good democrats will not vote for him.

The democrats of Georgia remind us of the condition that Jabe Waters, a teamster, was in last Saturday near town, whose heavily laden wagon had run off into a gulley. There he was. He could not pull out with his load and much of the freight was too heavy for him to lift off of the wagon. While he was in this condition a presiding elder rode up in his buggy. The officer of the church after sympathizing with the teamster in the most beautiful language drove on without lending a helping hand towards his relief.

So it is with us, we sympathize with the democrats in their distressed condition in having such a heavy load to carry in the Gubernatorial race, and if they have run off into a gulley they will have to get out the best way they can, for we expect to assist Judge J. G. Hines, whose character is without a stain or blemish.

Still Leaving the Old Parties.

Men are leaving the old parties as rats do a sinking ship. A few days ago ex Congressman W. H. Kitchen of North Carolina published a card in which he stated that the democratic party would do very well as a minority party, but was a failure as a majority party. A dispatch from Gilman, Wash. says Mayor P. V. Davis, a prominent republican, renounced his party and joined the Populists. About the same time a half a dozen men left the old parties and joined the Populists, among whom was Geo. K. Hartenstein, a member of the state central committee of Colorado. In a letter to Chairman F. P. Arbuckle, Mr. Hartenstein said:

"I am sorry to part company with old political friends, but I can not follow Cleveland democracy, and until the party leaders return to democratic principles and politics, I will refuse to follow or support them. I have not changed my opinion concerning democratic principles as taught by our distinguished founder and former leaders of the party, and I find that there is more true democracy in the People's party at the present time than in the so-called democratic party. I am sorry that you still stand by the party with all its treachery to the people and its un-democratic policies. I hope it will not be long until you can see your way clear to join the only party now in existence that will and can give the country much needed relief."

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Let the West and South Unite.

The situation is serious. Every patriot will view with alarm the waves of discontent and revolt that are rising higher and higher all over the land. The question on every body's lips is "how is this all going to end?" There can be but one answer. Plutocracy must take her hand off the throat of labor; the money power must loose its grasp on the industries of the country or there is going to be trouble. It is urged that the matter can be settled by the ballot. But how? No one claims for one instant that the present congress is carrying out the policy which it was elected to do. No one doubts that the reason is members have been bribed, either with office or money, to betray the interests of their constituents. Since 1878 there has been no expression of the people at the ballot box that did not demand an increase of the currency, and that direct from the government. Yet with systematic regularity the will of the people, as expressed at the ballot box, has been set aside and the demands of Wall street complied with. The people, disappointed with one party, have gone over to the other, like two balky horses, but but never with any better success. It has been the same to Wall street whether the people supported the democratic party or the republican party. With the past ten years both old parties have experienced a political cyclone that almost swept them out of existence. But disappointed again the people have returned and resurrected the corpse of their former love, only to meet again sad disappointment. The trouble is that neither one of the two old parties is any longer in the hands of the people. They are represented by two machines and those machines are controlled by politicians that are in the pay of Wall street. It is no longer asked is this measure what the people need, but how will it affect the party? Whether it be a fact that a minority in each party dictates its policy, or whether it is a majority that does so, it is evident that the people no longer do.

Under those conditions what are we to do? The people will never submit to the injustice that is being heaped upon them. The money power is arming itself to carry on its usurpations by force, if necessary, and the people are arming for a resistance. Revolution, with all its scenes, its sufferings and devastation, is staring us in the face. The two old parties can give no relief. They are divided within themselves in such way that Wall street can use fragments of either to help the other. The democratic party with 80 majority is powerless to pass any measure of relief. The republican party would not if it could. The men who control the two old parties are either wealthy or drawing good salaries. Hard times for the producers is a harvest with them. Low prices is money in their pockets. They are not producers. They are consumers. There is no hope of relief in that direction. But there are enough earnest and sincere men in the west and south to control legislation if they will unite. They will never do it under either the democratic or republican banners. It is unreasonable to expect it. The People's party is a common ground on which they can meet. In that way revolution can be prevented. It is the only way. With the west and south a unit relief could be had quick and sure. The man who still contends for democratic success or republican success is blind to his own and to his country's interests. As a rule the men who do so are either drawing a good salary as a result of talking for their party or expect to do so. The country is being led into the vortex of destruction by spoilsmen instead of statesmen. Let the west and south unite.

The people's party shows a big increase in Oregon during the recent election. They elected many members to the legislature and were close to the republicans with their state ticket, while the democrats were on the tail end.

FROM A. W. SMITH.

Will the Blinded Eyes Look and Then Think?

ED. SIGNAL:—

I present to you for your columns an article which I hope will be of some interest to some of your readers, if not all of the thinking ones.

The national condition of our aristocratical governed kingdom today is a deplorable one. Can the people stand it? Will the people stand it any longer? Good people think that this loyal, desperado, anarchist ought to be put to death. Then is Grover Cleveland and his pets in congress not disloyal anarchists? Are they not evading the laws of our constitution? Are they not creating laws which are unjust and in human? Are they not representing the money kingdom of Rothschild over the great deep? Is not Wall street a subsidiary of Rothschild? Are they not the villainous bosses of Wall street? Are they not sworn to defend and carry out the constitution? Does not the original constitution of the U. S. listen to the cries of men alike? Are they listening to the numerous complaints and cries of the poor, destitute and suffering people of this government? Then is it not time for the people to revolt and bring about a revolution in our government? We do not owe any generosity to our adversaries. In all time past no power never has been given away until their fears of subjection was aroused. Not until then. It is so always. There never was the breaking of the plutocracy of rule and crime, until some Stonewall Jackson said we must give the bayonet. Stonewall Jackson was a victem to death during the late war. But thank God, we have got another Stonewall Jackson to wit: Thomas E. Watson. Though he is a little feeble looking man, but with a gigantic brain and mind, with a heroic heart, and a determination and resolution as big as King David when he fought Goliah. He fought for the rights of the toiling masses. Two years ago when in Congress, he was almost alone. He was surrounded by a large majority of able men who were advocating the class law; this corporation law; this oppressive, thievish law. He is hated by all the plutocratic crowd, and is fought on every side. He is fought every way that a man can be, except the right way. He is fought with money, will key, trickery and rascality. He was unjustly beaten, but that made no difference to Tom. He still continues to fight in hazard of his own life for the rights and freedom of the distressed laborer. When he commenced the fight our cause was but a small brook. Look at it now? It is a mighty river and is sweeping over the United States like the Mississippi waters. They can not be impeded. Where is Tom now? He is standing at the fountain head like Moses with his rod in his hand smoting the dry rocks, bursting forth more water to drown out the tyrany of the old monarchist Cleveland and his host. Tom is standing by the will of the crushed producers of the nation, and is here to stay.

My fellow neighbor toilers of White, Lumpkin and Dawson, I desire you to bear in mind that Rothschild of Europe and Wall street of New York, have advocates promiscuously all over our country and especially in our towns. That thing could not be so if the fallowing class understood how the governmental matters were moving on. This is a great misfortune to them. I regret it. It is so. I am aware that many of the poor people of this country are so strained to even make a hard living, that they cannot spare the time to investigate governmental matters, and many good people have been so strained to keep soul and body together that they have been brought up deprived of an education, hence are not able to realize the condition that they are living under. Then let every man exercise a little common sense, and doubtless he will soon see for himself the legislation of this gold bug. Wall street crowd have brought degredation and distress upon us, which nearly the whole mass of producers are destitute of an education. It is grievous to think about. Now every producer of the above three named counties know one fact and that is this: What is the interest of one of the producers is certainly the interest of all. Then let us all stick together world without end. We all know that no one man can possibly suit every man in the county or counties, therefore whoever the people's party nominate to represent us in the house or legislature, let us find no fault to him, for unless we stand right square to the rack we cannot succeed. We can and must succeed.

You who read the SIGNAL have seen the names of parties sounded to represent these or at least some of them to wit: Col. Price to represent the county of Lumpkin on the Wall street side. Mr. Price is no stranger to the people of Lumpkin county. You all know that he is not a producer with his own hands. You all know that he has obtained a sumptuous and fat living. Where did it come from? Did it not come out of the laborers and producers of Lumpkin county? Then if he is a non-producer, do you not expect him to stand to the non-producers? Therefore do you not expect him to legislate for the non-producers? I will acknowledge that if we are beaten by the democrats that Price is as safe a man as they could jump up, for the following reasons: He is an able man, strickly sober and advocates the cause on high places. His stands as a good moral man in every particulars. He so far as I know has always been true to the cause he advocates. So much for Col. Price.

The producers of Lumpkin county want a good, sober, moral and sound, producing man to represent them in the legislature. I have not said who it is. The people will say, and when the people say who it is, then let us all come to the front and carry him right through, no difference what may be said of him, and do it without money, whiskey or rascality.

We see the Hon. M. G. Boyd's name mentioned on the democratic side in connection with Senatorial honors of this district. Boyd has been raised in Dahlonega and therefore he is no stranger to the people of the three counties. Has his hands ever produced anything to sustain life? However, his mother might may have made him hoe a few beans and onions. He has been raised up in the lap of education and ease by a good old father, who I imagine is at rest today. What has Marion Boyd done for himself? He has had a fat position as a lawyer, and has raised no family. Then, what kind of a financier has he proved to be? If he cannot finance for a lone man I cannot see how in the people of three counties can expect him to finance for them. Marion G's mark is made, and he made it himself. I, as a citizen of White county have got this to say, if you Wall street crowd beat us, I trust that you will beat us with a man that has made his mark in his county as a moral and sober man.

In nominating a man to represent us in the three counties, I, as a citizen of one of these counties claim a voice in the nomination, though I admit that Lumpkin has the right to nominate, therefore whoever you put before the people I will stick to him until the last finger and toe nail is clawed off. It is no difference if he has done personal wrongs to me, I shall stick to my party. I shall suggest the name of Hamp McAfee to represent the people's party in the Senate for the three counties. He is able to defend himself against any man they can put out on the opposite side. He is not ashame nor afraid to meet them on any ground. He is moral and sober and has made his mark thus. He has never faltered or quivered in the cause since the people first commenced trying to battle for their rights. I believe he will stand and battle for the people's rights until the determined rulers of Babylon or Wall street is overthrown.

"I will bring my article to a close by asking the distressed of our country to bear in mind that all classes are strictly organized and stick to each other or their fraternity but the distressed toiler who works the most and eats the least—who works the most and wears the least. Then for the sake of your rights and liberties, and your children's rights and liberties, let us be willing to make any sacrifice for our freedom and liberty. If we cannot get our rights without the sacrifice of the very vital blood of our bodies, let us come boldly to the front and stand to the battle fire. The hotter the battle the sooner over.

I say this to the readers of the SIGNAL. I am not writing this article to try to make any body mad, or try to please any body. I am writing what I understand to be the truth, and if it pleases, all right, and if it makes mad, all right. I am not candidate for office nor expecting to be, and if I was I would write the same. Let us nominate no man that is seeking office. ALLISON SMITH.

Eating Crow.

Crow, did you say crow? No, I wouldn't choose any. Well, let's see. The Atlanta Constitution, Gainesville Eagle, Dahlonega Nugget, Cleveland Progress, all eating crow. Yes, you are right. There are bigger men than I eating crow, but I never eat crow, and besides this crow is not cleaned and is too old to eat good.

The little Dawsonville Advertiser told us when he left the ship, the "Evans boom," that she was about to sink, and we laughed at him and accused him of being mad because the fixer didn't fix him, and just after he left the old ship she struck a snag that twisted her keel and punched a hole in her bottom.

Now don't, please don't Bro. Thomas, say "that I told you so" again. That is a naughty word to say to a fellow when he is down. We know the old ship is on her beam ends, and we are getting off as fast as we can. We know your crew scuttled our old war ship and she is fast sinking and will soon strike the bottom. We are coming to your ship and we don't expect to get in over the bow, but we are waiting to crawl in over the locker at the stern, and we don't expect to be shipped as ordinary seamen, but are willing to be shipped as land lubbers, and are willing to scrub the decks, ballast in the hole, do anything to keep out of the range of the people's party guns. We are democrats, we are, and the most of us will eat crow and join in the chorus:

Rip rap, get back
and let the music play,
The war is all over now
And Atkinson has gained the day.

We understand that the people's party of White county will run A. W. Smith for the legislature.

Hon. G. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus, has been appointed state railroad commissioner.

A dispatch from Pelham, Ga., states that Frank Moore, col., who assaulted two white women last week, was arrested and hung to a limb.

During Col. C. J. Thornton's populist speech at Newnan some days ago, he said: "Yes, we want the colored vote; don't the democrats want it?" Two or three voices in the audience yelled out "No." The Colonel then pulled out the Constitution and read a dispatch from Dalton, which stated that the Mayor of that city, who was a zealous Atkinson man, went out into the street and held the mules of one of the city wagons until the negro driver went and voted.

Don't throw up office seekers to the people's party any more. The few that have not left the democratic party are all crazy for office, from the highest to the lowest. There are 23 applicants for railroad commissioner Powers' place up to date and still more expected. We even heard a fellow in Dahlonega say last week that he desired to go to the state democratic convention. Just think about it. A man seeking a delegates position in a political convention. This beats the record. We also heard of a democrat in this county who asked one of his friends to use his influence towards having him appointed jury commissioner. Some of them have gone so far as to ask to be put in the grand jury box. What about it?

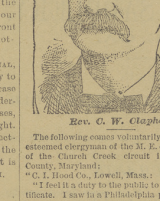

For the Legislature.

At the solicitation of friends I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the House of Representatives at the coming election. My views on public questions will be given through the newspapers or from the stump during the campaign. W. P. PRICE.

Rev. C. W. Clapham

The following comes voluntarily from a highly esteemed clergyman of the M. E. church, pastor of the Church Creek circuit in Dorchester County, Maryland:

"I feel it a duty to the public to send this certificate. I saw in a Philadelphia paper a letter from a man who had suffered from and had been restored by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had the grip in the winter of '93 and '94 so severely that it deprived me of the use of my arms so that my wife had to dress and undress me, and when away from home I had to sleep in my clothes. I tried five doctors and not one accomplished anything. Then I saw the letter alluded to and determined to try Hood's. Before I had taken one bottle I had the use of my arms, thank God. These are facts and can be verified by many persons here. J. M. Colston, Church Creek, supplied me with Hood's. I am pastor of the M. E. church here." C. W. CLAPHAM, Church Creek, Maryland.

Dahlonega Signal.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 29, 1894.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O., as second class matter.

Meal is now retailing at 80 cents per bushel in Dahlonega.

U. S. Deputy Collector Kellogg, of Canton, is in Dahlonega.

We understand that no more custom ore will be crushed by the Lawrence mill.

The Stanley steam mill is being run both day and night this week on ore from the "Preacher" lot.

Mr. H. P. Pierce was married to Miss Ada, daughter of Mr. Austin Jones, last Sunday one week ago.

Col. R. H. Baker, who recently visited Atlanta, says it is believed that Fulton county will go for Judge Hines.

Dr. Howard preached at Hickory Grove, an old Presbyterian church in the eastern portion of the county, last Sunday.

Prof. B. P. Gilliard, of Dahlonega, was elected the expert of the of Spaulding county Teachers Institute last week.

More legislative timber spoken of as being brought into use, to-wit: Mr. John Tate, republican, and Rev. Giles Bell, democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Meaders were expecting to make a trip to middle Georgia this week but Mrs. Meaders became sick and it had to be postponed.

Rev. Mr. Underwood, the presiding elder, preached at the M. E. church at this place last Sabbath. The third Quarterly Conference was held the following day.

Dr. C. H. Winburn, of Gainesville, is in Dahlonega and will remain only a few days. Those needing any dental work should call on him at the Burnside House at once.

The congregation at Souls Chapel last Sunday was large and the services interesting, Rev. Mr. Ledbetter occupying the pulpit. He delivered two sermons, the subject of one being the leaden pencil.

An old gentleman living in Yahoola district recently missed one of his oxens. After searching the woods for miles around without finding it, he went home and wrote to a son living in Kansas, giving the color, mark and full description of the animal.

Mr. Cone McDonald, a widower residing in Crumby's district, came to town one day last week and purchased a $2 pair of slippers to be worn on a courting expedition down into Jackson county. Upon carrying them home he gave them to the children to look at. Unfortunately they left one of them where the rats could get to it, and next morning it was discovered that one of the naughty little things had cut several holes in the slipper, which rendered it unfit for use. The gentleman's trip was postponed.

We are informed that Mr. James Edwards, residing in Chestatee district, who went to sit up with a sick person the other night, was the subject of some fun. Shortly after supper he pulled off his shoes, socks and coat and retired for a few moments rest. He soon dropped off to sleep and snored and dreamed pleasant dreams until the break of day. Upon making an effort to rise he found himself sewed to the bed clothing. After extricating himself he went to put on his coat and found the sleeves sewed up. After breaking the stitches he got it on and anticipated no more trouble, but when he went to robe his feet with his socks he found the legs of them sewed up. Determined to here no more giggling on that occasion, he grabbed up both shoes and socks, ran out at the door and has not been heard of since.

AN OLD DOCTOR'S FAVORITE.

The first visitors of the season arrived at Porter Springs last week.

There has been a general well cleaning in Dahlonega for the past few days.

James Brown, residing near Dahlonega, had 70 patridge eggs for breakfast the other morning.

Prof. Joseph Boyd and lady, of Young Harris are over on a visit and will spend several days in Dahlonega.

Mr. F. D. Boartfield has one of the finest gardens that we have seen. He is raising every vegetable that grows in this country except okra—even ground peas.

Col. R. H. Baker returned from Atlanta latter part of last week, where he had been to attend the funeral of Mrs. Frank Baker, who died in that city a few days ago.

A gentleman who has just returned from Cherokee, informs us that quite a number of new students from that county will enter the next session of the N. G. A College.

We are now getting up tax collectors receipts beautifully printed and neatly bound, cheap as dirt. Tax collectors in adjoining counties needing any, should send in their orders at once.

Sarah Crow, who has been confined in jail for some days, charged with an assault and battery, made bond one day last week. Her 14 year old brother is still in prison charged with the same offense.

We hear the name of Rev. Newt Alston's mentioned in connection with both senatorial and legislative honors. Austin belongs to the reform movement and would make a strong race for either office.

We heard a party say the other day he was getting tired of loaning his SIGNAL to parties to read that were amply able to pay for one of their own. He added that he expected them to ask for his rocking chair next to sit in while reading it.

We desire to say to those writing to us about getting up clubs that the SIGNAL is worth $1.00 per annum and we cannot take less. We have names on our books that have been patrons of this paper for more than forty years and they have always paid us full price without even asking us to make a reduction.

We are informed that since the Richmond & Danville R. R. has changed hands freight has been reduced considerably. Flour can be shipped from Atlanta to Gainesville for about twenty cents on the thousand pounds less than heretofore. This should allow our Dahlonega merchants to give their customers the benefit of the reduction.

Samuel Goudlock col., says he is going to vote the peoples party ticket this time. He was fooled out of his vote two years ago by some of the democrats who promised him if he would use his influence for that party he should have an easy job about the state house where he could have a pleasant time and drink ice water. Sam did all he could and after the Democrats got comfortably seated he made two trips to Atlanta but he was not recognized, and was out not only his vote but what it cost him to make these two trips to the city.

TIRED, WEAK, NERVOUS,

Means impure blood, and overwork or too much strain on brain and body. The only way to cure is to feed the nerves on pure blood. Thousands of people certify that the best blood purifier, the best nerve tonic and strength builder is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What it has done for others it will also do for you—Hood's Cures.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

Pimples, boils and other humors of the blood are liable to break out in the warm weather. Prevent it by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Prof. Vickery and lady left for Hartwell last Tuesday.

Mr. Zeke Wellborn of Blairsville, is over on a visit.

Mechanics are now engaged in framing the stamp mill to be put up at the Chicago.

Dr. Whelchel's residence was brightened last Monday by the appearance of a beautiful little boy.

Deputy Marshals Burrell of Cornelia, and Holmes of Towns county, spent two or three days in Dahlonega this week.

Mr. W. J. Burt wrote a letter to Col. Price last week, stating that if the Colonel was in the race for the legislature that he might count him in the field too.

Mr. John Jackson, of Pickens county, paid his father at this place a short visit a few days ago. John says they are nearly all for Judge Hines for Governor out his way.

Persons who desire to run for office must let the people know what party they belong to. The day has come when office seekers cannot sit upon the fence and receive ballots from both sides.

Corn meal has been scarce in our market this week. One merchant upon finding that there was none in market, sent a load of corn to mill, had it ground and held the meal at 90 cents per bushel. Most of the citizens thought this too high and used flower as a substitute.

Notice to Teachers.

The teachers of Lumpkin county will take notice that the meeting of the Teachers Instute has been changed so as to convene at Dahlonega on Monday, the 2d day of July. J. M. MCGEE, C. S. C.

We call teachers especial attention to the County Commissioners announcement elsewhere to the effect that the Teachers Institute will convene next Monday. This change has been made at the request of both teachers and patrons so as to enable the schools to commence earlier.

The man over in the edge of Hall county, mentioned some days ago, as manufacturing a wooden bicycle, got it completed but it did him no good. He got on it but it would not move forward, and the rider fell off. He arose, picked up the machine and put it in the outside corner of the chimney to be added to the list of stationary machines.

A gentleman remarked the other day that he would not vote for a man who used liquor in a campaign or even drank it. Unless things changes different from past elections this man will not vote. We have known the whiskey campaign basket to be carried around and parties who were strong advocates of the temperance cause, would shut their eyes and cast in a few dollars.

It is a little strange that some people fall out with the revenue officers who are in the discharge of their duty. Why don't they get mad with the county officers who arrest and bring violators of the law before the courts, where they are punished much more severer than in the revenue courts. Not longer than the last term of Lumpkin Superior court a man was found guilty of selling liquor and had to let the last horse he possessed go in order to keep from having to leave his family and work in the chain gang six months. Just as much reason to blame the solicitor, clerk, sheriff, grand jury finding the bill, special jury trying the case and the Judge hearing it.

Going North this Summer?

If you are contemplating a trip to the Lakes of Michigan, or of Wisconsin, or of Minnesota, the Mountains of West Virginia, or of Pennsylvania, or of Colorado, or to any of the resorts or cities of the North, Northeast or northwest, you should write for a copy of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad "Outing" folder, to Fred. D. Bush, District Passenger Agent, Atlanta, Ga. This route is via Mammoth Cave, the greatest natural wonder of the World. Round trip rates now in effect Northern Cities.

June 29, 10t

Prof. Smith of the LaGrange College, and his lady are on a visit to their relatives in Dahlonega.

And still they come. Mr. Marion Head is wanting the voters to put him in Lumpkin county's jail.

It is rumored that Mr. Homer Strickland, who is down in middle Georgia, will take unto himself a better half about the 20th of July.

We understand that water melons which cost from ten to twenty cents in Gainesville, are being hauled to Dahlonega and sold for forty and fifty cents a piece. Nothing like making a good profit these flush times.

Dahlonega, her college and mines were ably "written up," by two distinguished gentleman last week. Messrs. Henry Clay Fairman of the Sunny South and A. N. King of the Carnesville Tribune, who visited the recent commencement exercises of the college. We hope the day is not far distant when these gentleman will make another trip to our beautiful mountain town on a more extended visit.

Men are arrested and brought into Dahlonega most every day charged with making liquor contrary to law. The present administration raised the tax on liquor twenty cents per gallon instead of reducing it as some of the democrats promised. Of course whiskey cannot be made in this section profitably according to law, and the boys expecting a big demand for liquor for the coming election to put some of the democrats in office, occasionally get caught up with by Uncle Sam, preparing for the ball.

Jabe Waters and Ben Goudlock had a little misunderstanding last Saturday afternoon and collided, one using a weight and the other his fist, but were separated before much damage was done. Tuesday evening was the time set apart by the marshal for the mayor to administer the healing plaster but Ben failed to put in his appearance and the sheriff and marshal went to Turkey Hill during the night and brought in the darkey and lodged him in jail. Next morning at 9 o'clock, he was fined $10 and cost by the mayor, making $19.65.

Jim Hughes has had bad luck. He hired a cart last Sunday and hitched up his pony and started on a trip to the country with his little boy. They only got six miles when the animal gave out and the journey had to be discontinued, and the two wended their way homeward, leaving the cart and horse behind. Next morning Geo. Elrod was sent after the outfit. Upon his arrival he found the animal most too feeble to be hitched to the cart. So George got in between the shalves of the cart and started off to Dahlonega on fast time, trotting down hills and on level ground, making the trip to town by noon. After resting a little he went back for the aged animal. When he got there the poor thing had passed in her checks and bid the green grass of summer adieu. George returned, made a report and received his pay. Thus ends the story of Jim Hughes' pleasure trip to the country.

MARVELOUS RESULTS.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottle free at E. C. Cartledge Druggist. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Terrible blood poison, body covered with sores, and two bottles of P. P. P. [Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium] cured the disease, making the patient lively as a ten-year-old.

There will be no primaries in Lumpkin county. Capt. Allen, chairman of the executive committee of the county, is notifying the members to meet in Dahlonega on next Tuesday for the purpose of fixing a time for the holding of a mass meeting. The attendance is not likely to be very large, as we heard another one of the committee say the other day that he did not expect to have anything to do with the primary, since it had resulted the way it had.

THE DISCOVERY SAVED HIS LIFE.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at E. C. Cartledge Druggist.

stalks, cattle will eat and utilize nearly all of them.

11. Corn fodder (stover) furnishes a food rich in digestible carbohydrates.

12. Corn fodder, when fed alone, will nearly maintain cattle, but should be supplemented with some food rich in nitrogen, when dealing for the production of growth, flesh or milk.

In view of the above, does it not seem almost beyond belief that some certain method of preserving the stalk entire has not yet been decided upon, and that farmers still go on with the same old expensive method of "pulling fodder" and leaving the other parts of the stalk to be wasted? Our object in referring thus early to this subject, is to infuse each farmer, if possible, to try a little experimentation on a small scale, "in a multitude of counsellors there is wisdom," and by these practical tests we may arrive at the best and surest method of utilizing what has heretofore been merely a "waste product." We know that it is well worth saving—the question is, how best to accomplish this with our surroundings. In a higher latitude it is a comparatively simple matter. Let each farmer resolve to try a few rows at least. As a general guide the following taken from an exchange is worth trying:

"Have the crop cut down at the roots as soon as the corn is well glazed, and before the fodder is all dead and wasted. Set the shocks up in large, well built form. Tie them round the tops with binder twine, and if well set they will stand firmly until well cured and fit for storing in the barn or shed, after the ears have been pulled. You will find an immense economy in time and labor in thus handling the crop, besides securing the whole of the feeding value of the fodder."

The practical knowledge of experienced farmers may suggest improvements on the above. Let them make the tests and let us hear from them.

GEORGIA CROP REPORT.

Issued by the Department of Agriculture. General Remarks.

We regret to record that since our last report the weather conditions have been such as to materially damage the prospect of our great staple crop, cotton, while other crops have also suffered from the cold weather prevailing the latter part of the month.

COTTON.

Throughout north Georgia the damage to the cotton crop is very great. This damage is of such a character that it cannot at this time be fully estimated. Not alone where the injury is apparent by the death of the plant will the damage be felt, but the debilitated condition of the plant is such as to render it more liable to disease and sore shin and other diseases to which the plant is subject will further impair the already imperfect stand. On the low lands of the northern portion of the state the direct injury was so great as to necessitate plowing up in many instances and from this cause there is in this section of the state an appreciable reduction in the acreage while the condition and prospect are 15 per cent less than that of last year. Next to north Georgia middle Georgia has suffered most, while the more southern portions of the state have suffered least. Compared with the last report from this department the condition and prospect has fallen off 9 per cent.

CORN.

Less liable to injure the corn crop has not been materially damaged, while the slow growth of the plant evidences, especially in north Georgia, the effect of the cold weather of the latter part of the month. In the state as a whole it is apparent in a reduction of 1 per cent in condition and prospect. In north Georgia an increased acreage is shown from plowing up of cotton and replanting in corn.

WHEAT AND OATS.

The indicated yield, as given by the correspondents of the department, is not so great as we would wish, and the damage of the severe weather of the early spring is apparent. Harvesting is now in progress, and we hope in our next report to give data of a more certain character as to the yield per acre throughout the state.

FRUIT.

Great injury to the fruit crop generally throughout the state has long been apparent. The dropping of immature apples, many of which were supposed to have been set, has greatly reduced the prospects of a yield of this fruit, and only a very small crop may be expected.

Notes About Good Roads.

In all the states of the Union good roads are essential to progress and the spread of intelligence.

The people are able to get the products of the farm to market when good roads are provided, and the value of agricultural land is proportionately increased.

The farmers in New Jersey, where they once with a team drew a ton, with new roads are able to draw six tons.

Bad roads rob good horses and vehicles of much of their practical value, besides tending to shorten their terms of usefulness.

The question of good roads is essentially a question of public and individual well being.

The farmers of this section of the country are being gradually brought to understand that good roads bring them nearer the market, and will enable them to easily draw with their teams double the loads they now carry.

As one who was raised a farmer boy, and who in common with others worked the roads to no avail, I am now unreservedly committed to all honest endeavor that will lead to better roads, and shall work and teach to that end.—Professor L. Higgins.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Given by the Georgia Department of Agriculture

FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE.

Some News Relating to Farming, Gardening, Dairying, Stock Raising, Etc., Which Will Be Interesting to the Farmers.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
ATLANTA, June 1, 1894.

COLORADO POTATO BEETLE.

Enclosed I send you a small striped bug that is doing great damage to my potatoes. What is it, and what is the remedy? R. G. C., Dallas, Ga.

The enclosed bug is the Colorado potato beetle which, in many sections of the country, has been very destructive in the potato fields. It has only in recent years made its appearance in north Alabama and north Georgia, and east and middle Tennessee. Paris green or London purple, both being arsenites, are regarded as the best remedies. Use in the dry form, mixed in the proportion of one pound of the poison to five of flour, and two of dry dust, fine ashes or air slacked lime; apply with a sifter or perforated pan. If sprayed or sprinkled over the vines in liquid form, use a small teaspoonful to two gallons of water or even three gallons. Be careful in handling the Paris green or London purple, as it is a deadly poison.

CUT CLOVER.

When is the best time to cut clover for hay? P. O. P., Crawfish Springs.

In our opinion, the best hay is made by cutting the clover when it is in full bloom, before the seeds have formed. Experiments on this subject coincide with this view.

THE HORN FLY.

Through a large portion of southern Georgia this past has proven very annoying to cattle, and while we have previously answered as to life habits of the fly and the remedies suggested by the department at Washington, yet, owing to the large number of inquiries that continue to be made, we give the following valuable suggestions from the work of the Mississippi experiment station:

The remedies for the horn fly consists of (1) various applications to the animals to keep the flies off; (2) applications to the animals to kill the flies; and (3) applications to the dung to kill the larvæ.

During the past two seasons we have experimented with many substances which have been applied to keep the flies from the animals, most of which have proved of but little value, as they evaporate so rapidly. The following, however, have been fairly satisfactory, as they keep the cattle free from flies from a week to 10 days.

Crude cotton seed oil or fish oil and pine tar mixed, about two parts of the former to one of the latter. The two mix readily and are very easily applied to the animals at milking time by means of a large paint brush. Applied in this manner it takes but a half minute to a cow, making the cost of the application but a small item. We have treated 330 head at a time with the crude cotton seed oil and tar in this way, using but four gallons of the oil and less than two gallons of the pine tar. The cost of the oil is 30 cents per gallon and of the tar about 50 cents, making the total cost of the application to 330 head about $3.20, or about three-fourths of a cent per head.

A preparation known as "goat oil," which is largely used in some localities for buffalo gnats, as its name implies, has given about the same success as the above. It is made as follows:

Crude carbolic acid, 1 ounce.
Pennyroyal, 1-2 to 1 ounce.
Sulphur, 1-2 pound.
Crude cotton seed oil, 1 gallon.

This was applied to the animals in the same manner as was the first preparation, and we were unable to see any difference in the animals treated with the goat oil and those treated with the crude cotton seed oil and pine tar mixture, both preparations keeping the animals free from the flies from a week to 10 days, depending to some extent upon how numerous the flies were at the time.

The best application to kill the flies is kerosene emulsion. In 1892 we experimented quite successfully in this line. The milk emulsion was used, the method mixing thoroughly one part of slightly sour milk with two parts of kerosene and then diluting this with 12 to 15 parts of water. The emulsion was applied to the animals at milking time
